BAR DELEGATES HEAR PLEAS FOR PEACE EFFORTS

Lord Reading and Paul Reynaud Ask World Fight on Slump.

MARTINSBURG MAN ELECTED PRESIDENT

John Henry Wigmore Gets Association's Medal for Distinguished Work.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Unofficial emissaries of two great powers, Lord Reading, of England, and Paul Reynaud, of France, joined yesterday before the American Bar Association in vigorous pleas for world peace and a united attack on the world economic crisis.

"In these matters we stand firmly together," Lord Reading, former Ambassador to the United States, last night told the association. "We have the same moral outlook and are inspired by the same ideals."

Earlier, M. Reynaud, former minister of justice in the Tardieu cabinet, saw world "solidarity, at least in misery," an accomplished fact, with democracy and peace still facing the test.

"This means that our common work is not finished," he said. "The great democracies, America, Great Britain and France, have a great duty to perform."

Both Lord Reading and M. Reynaud last night were made honorary members of the association.

West Virginian New Head.

The two addresses formed the highlight in concluding business sessions of the association, which yesterday afternoon elected Clarence E. Martin, of Martinsburg, W. Va., "country lawyer," president, and awarded its medal for "the most outstanding contribution to American jurisprudence" to John Henry Wigmore, dean emeritus of Northwestern University Law School.

Representative Hatton W. Sumners (Democrat), Texas, chairman of the House judiciary committee, told the afternoon session that Americans, in their economic and political government, "are making a terrible mess of it." He urged a return to "fundamental principles."

The Marquess of Reading made the only address at last night's session in Constitution Hall. Former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg introduced the former lord chief justice of England, who in turn paid tribute to the Kellogg pact for world peace.

"There are no sanctions in the treaty, but solemn obligations are solemnly regcorded, and nations in their honor are bound to observe them," Lord Reading said. "The cynic may observe that their value would lie in their capacity to enforce them, and that is absent. The answer will be found in world opinion."

Defends Indian Policy.

Lord Reading defended the British position in India, commended the "wisdom, sagacity and beneficence" of its rule, and declared not only England, but the world outside, should be vitally interested in the move toward an Indian federation.

"The world is in turmoil and disorder," he said. "We who are living can not have experienced any par-

34-Year Fugitive Remains Mystery

Record Can Not Be Found of Man Who Asserts He Fled Justice.

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department searched in vain yesterday for any record of W. Kirby Robinson, who surrendered Wednesday at Leavenworth prison saying he had been a fugitive from justice for 34 years.

After study of records had failed to reveal any trace of the man, the department wired to the prison for additional information.

Robinson, now 55, appeared at the prison yesterday and said he had been sentenced to serve four years for robbing an Arkansas postoffice, but had escaped. He added that the incident had preyed upon his conscience and he wanted to serve his sentence.

Arlington & Fairfax Loan Is Disapproved

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday denied approval to the Arlington & Fairfax Railway Company for a loan of $11,300 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Grounds for the denial were based on the commission's findings that the company did not have prospective earning power or sufficient security to justify the loan.

Ford to Urge Hoover Votes In Radio Talk

New York, Oct. 14 (U.P.).—Henry Ford will make his first political speech next Wednesday night, a radio talk over a national hook-up urging the reelection of President Hoover, it was announced today by the Republican national committee.

The motor car manufacturer will speak from his office in Dearborn, Mich.

It will be his third appearance before the microphone, but his first extended talk. The other two were brief felicitations extended to the late Thomas Edison at times of national broadcasts in the inventor's honor.

December 15 Payment On Debts Is Forecast

Capital Believes Installments Will Come Pending Reconsideration of Entire Allies' Liability; Hoover Speech Explained.

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press.)

Payment of the December 15 installments on the principal war debts is expected in official quarters here pending reconsideration of the entire debt structure in the near future.

Great Britain, it is said here, has been quietly collecting gold in anticipation of making the stipulated payment of approximately $80,000,000. It is assumed in informed quarters here that other governments will do likewise. In all some $130,000,000 is due from all debtors. Ninety per cent of this is owed by Great Britain, France and Italy.

In return for this acknowledgement of the validity of the debts, President Hoover is prepared to reconsider the schedules of payments in event of his reelection. Further details have been obtained of the objectives which he indicated in his Des Moines speech, which was to use the debt situation to facilitate American exports, particularly of agricultur...

It is now an open secret here that Washington does not expect the debt to be repaid on the basis of the original settlements. Mr. Hoover has repeatedly stated he is opposed to cancellation. But he now recognizes, as do his advisers, that all debtors can not pay in the way that was originally planned.

The United Press is able to throw some light on the cryptic formula which he announced in the Des Moines speech. In that speech he said:

"I am prepared to recommend that any annual payment on the foreign debt be used for the specific purpose of securing an expansion of the foreign markets for American agricultural products."

One of several plans for applying this principle which is receiving serious consideration in official quarters is as follows: The United States

TWO GIRLS ARE SHOT BY MOTOR OUTLAWS

Bandits Also Get $51 and Steal Cars in Series of Armed Holdups.

Four young white men driving a light sedan were the object of an intensive police search after they had shot two girls and perpetrated three successful holdups, which netted them about $51, in widely separated sections of the city last night.

Mary Boccaro, 18, of 41 U street, and her cousin, Rose Boccaro, 18, of 422 Eleventh street northwest, were shot after they had been held up by the four bandits on Defense Highway near Lanham, Md.

They were riding in a car operated by J. T. Vincent, sailor, of the U. S. S. Cormorant, with two other sailors and another girl when Vincent stopped the car and the men got out. They were standing beside the car when the bandits drove up in a coupe stolen earlier in the evening, got out, and at the point of a pistol took $13 from Vincent. After pocketing the money the bandit holding the gun then pointed it at the two girls and shot each in the right foot. They then took the keys from the sailor's car, threw them in some bushes and disappeared.

The bandits turned up again several hours later at Franklin and Twentieth streets northeast, when they held up Mrs. Williford E. Lawson in her sedan and made off with $3 and her car, leaving the coupe, which they had stolen from Thomas G. Fowler before the highway shooting, in Anacostia Park.

Fowler was parked in the park when the four bandits drew up and at the point of a pistol robbed him of $35 and his car. They then headed toward Deanwood and said he could get the car there.

Murray Warns Strikers Against Mine Violence

Halleyville, Okla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Gov. W. H. Murray today warned a crowd of striking miners in an address here that "there must be no violence" during the present strike and picketing of nonunion coal mines in this district.

"Legal picketing is all right," the governor said, "but you must get it into your heads that to interfere with the rights of private citizens, if tolerated, would bring a downfall of constituted government."

News and notes of the churches will be found this morning on Page 9.

STATE DEPARTMENT ASSAILED BY INSULL

Declares That He Will Not Be "Turned Into Scamp" by Giving Up Passport.

Athens, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Reiterating his refusal to surrender his passport, Samuel Insull, former utilities leader wanted in Chicago to answer an indictment, declared in a letter to the American consul today that he would not be turned "into a scamp who can neither stay anywhere nor go anywhere."

He said he was "very much surprised" at the American State Department's attempt to take up the passport, an action he interpreted as cancellation of his citizenship.

The former power magnate has reserved a suite at his hotel, the Petit Palais, for his son, Samuel, jr., who is expected tomorrow or the next day. The hotel management said it expected its most widely known guest to remain for some time with them.

The former Chicago capitalist tonight faced the verandas of the one-time royal palace, watching the mellow Athenian skies, and apparently enjoying the classic beauties of the Greek capital in expectation of a happy family reunion. His wife is at Paris, convalescing from a recent illness. Samuel, jr., is with her.

To the press Mr. Insull denied reports that he was planning to leave for Istanbul, Turkey. He makes his plans from day to day, he said, and so he did not know what he would be doing the next few days.

"Sir," the Chicagoan wrote to the American consul, "I was very much surprised at your letter of yesterday informing me that the State Department had instructed you to take up my passport.

"It seems that they don't know in Washington that my passport is valuable until February, 1934, and that

Railroad Trains Halted By Philadelphia Blaze

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Fire in the new Thirtieth street suburban station of the Pennsylvania Railroad today drove more than 100 persons to the street, halted activities in the station and disrupted all train service.

At least fifteen workmen were overcome by smoke which poured from the baggage room, just below the waiting room floor. All trains in Broad street station were held there by the fire, and the 11 a. m. express for New York was delayed for 40 minutes until firemen had the fire under control.

GERMANS BALK AT SHIFTING OF ARMS MEETING

Reject Geneva as Scene of Four-Power Talks on Equality.

ASSISTANCE OF U. S. MAY BE REQUESTED

American Influence Is Seen Needed to Surmount New Barrier.

London, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Two days of negotiations between Premier Edouard Herriot and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald resulted today in a Franco-British agreement to hold a four-power emergency disarmament conference at Geneva to deal with Germany's demand for arms equality.

But the Germans balked at this arrangement, and tonight the crisis over world disarmament centered again in Berlin. From persons in touch with the negotiations here, it was learned that American influence probably would be needed to smooth out this latest difficulty.

Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath informed the cabinet tonight that Germany had rejected Geneva as the scene of a conference.

Hopes Further Reduced.

It was also learned unofficially from authoritative quarters that Lausanne, Switzerland, near Geneva, was equally objectionable from the German standpoint. Germany previously had approved of London as the setting for the British proposed conference among Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany.

Thus official quarters looked upon the prospects for a disarmament conference materializing soon as further reduced.

The Catholic newspaper, Germania, organ of former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening who was supplanted by the present Junker government of Chancellor Franz von Papen, today supported the cabinet on this point.

"It is an impossible presumption," the newspaper said, "to invite Germany to a place charged at the outset with Francophile and League of Nations influences."

Stand of Equality.

These developments followed a statement earlier today that if Geneva were chosen for the four-power discussions, Germany's demand for equality must first be settled.

From an official quarter, it was learned that, otherwise, Germany took the position that she might find herself, so to speak, pushed through the back door into the world disarmament conference again with the point of equality still unsolved.

Italy immediately expressed her approval of the four-power parley plan.

The British view tonight was that the German refusal was of temporary character. Having yielded to the French plea that the emergency four-power meeting be held at Geneva and be conducted within the frame work of the League of Nations, Prime Minister MacDonald hoped that the German government would make a similar concession to the French.

May Ask U. S. Help.

In effecting this change in German opinion, it was said in authoritative quarters, American good offices may be needed. It is understood that those good offices were useful in bringing about the conversations here between M. Herriot and Mr. MacDonald.

Premier Herriot left London this afternoon in gay spirits. Mr. MacDonald motored to Chequers, his country place, for a week-end of rest before the reconvening of Parliament Tuesday.

Death of Veteran In Hospital Told

Witness Says Patient Was Beaten, Choked and "Stomped."

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Testimony that an attendant at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital here "beat, choked with a towel, and stomped" on a patient, was given at a preliminary hearing today growing out of the patient's death.

One of three men, who at first had been charged with the patient's death, was bound over to United States District Court for trial on a second degree murder charge and the other two were released under bond of $1,500 each as material witnesses. Austin Leroy Brown was bound over on the murder charge.

Aaron Ott, another attendant, testified at a preliminary hearing before C. J. Skinner, jr., U. S. commissioner, that in spite of his protests, Brown beat the patient, Charles Dickinson, of Somerville, Tenn., choked him with a towel and walked on him a short time before his death Saturday. Walter L. Epps, the other material witness, was not called to testify.

Pirates Shield 2 Women in Looting Boat

Hongkong, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The British steamer Helikon came into port today after having been for 36 hours in the hands of pirates who distinguished themselves by according chivalrous treatment to Miss Edith Boynton, an American, and Mrs. Dirk Van Driest, a Canadian, two of the passengers.

The two women were kept captive in their cabins after their jewelry had been taken but before the pirates abandoned the ship they returned the jewels.

"To think that I should have spent 13 uneventful years in China and on the day I leave this should happen," said Miss Boynton.

Two Chinese passengers were detained by the police, who suspected that they might have been the leaders in the piratical expedition, which was carried out in the manner traditional in these parts. The pirates, who had gone aboard as ordinary passengers, launched a sudden attack,

PRESIDENT RETURNS TO MIDWEST TODAY

25,000 Expected to Hear His Cleveland Speech Tonight; Several Stops on Way.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

President Hoover will leave Washington early this morning for his second campaign invasion of the pivotal Middlewest, where, the strategists of both parties now agree, the presidential election probably will be decided on November 8.

Tonight the Chief Executive will address a rally in the great Municipal Auditorium in Cleveland. Party managers in Ohio estimate that 25,000 persons will be in the immediate audience, many from the several surrounding States. The address will be broadcast over a national radio hook-up, beginning at 8:30 p. m. (Eastern standard time).

Accompanying the President and Mrs. Hoover on their scheduled early morning departure were Postmaster General Walter Brown, himself an Ohioan, and White House Secretaries Walter Newton and Lawrence Richey.

En route, the President will make rear platform appearances at scores of towns and villages in West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. Ten scheduled stops are contemplated at such cities as Cumberland, Md.; Connellsville, McKeesport and Newcastle, Pa., and Youngstown and Akron, Ohio. It is expected Mr. Hoover will deliver platform speeches at most of these centers. The presidential special is due back at Union Station shortly before noon tomorrow.

Despite the wounded hand which caused him to suspend the state reception to the judiciary at the White House Thursday night, the President was reported to be in fine trim for his Ohio jaunt. Although his right hand was strapped and bandaged yesterday morning, he enjoyed his usual half-hour with the medicine ball tossers before breakfast, and then went Convalescence Will Start Today, Physicians at Hospital Declare.

Dr. R. E. Dyer yesterday successfully passed the crisis in his illness from typhus fever. The assistant director of the National Institute of Health contracted the disease during experiments he conducted in seeking a curing vaccine for the plague.

Physicians at the Naval Hospital, where Dr. Dyer has been confined for the two weeks of his illness, said that he would be "convalescent" today.

During his illness, Dr. Dyer has been noting the progress of the disease and had pictures taken of the appearance of the rash which accompanied it.

Ursula Parrott Wins "Ex-Wife" Title Again

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Ursula Parrott became an "ex-wife"—the title of her first successful novel—for the second time today.

She won a divorce on charges of intolerable cruelty on the first anniversary of her marriage to Charles T. Greenwood, New York banker. She asked no alimony. Miss Parrott, seen frequently at literary teas in dusky red ensembles, was given permission to discard the name Greenwood and to have custody of her 8-year-old son by her first marriage to Lindesay Parrott, New York newspaperman.

ST. MARYS BAND ROBS MOTORIST IN NEXT COUNTY

Autoist Yields $200 to Trio Near La Plata, in Charles.

BLACK SHIRTS BLOCK HIS CAR ON MAIN ROAD

Sheriff's Men and State Police Begin Wide Manhunt.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Leonardtown, Md., Oct. 14.—For the second time in less than 24 hours, residents of this section have fallen victims to the terrorizing "Black Shirt" gang. The dreaded trio struck again early today, and as usual escaped with a large loot—leaving behind no clew to aid police.

During the last two weeks St. Marys County has borne the brunt of nine attacks on citizens. The marauders stepped across the county line today to pick their tenth victim—Raymond Musgrove, prominent insurance man of Leonardtown.

Auto Blocks Path.

Musgrove's description of his assailants tallied exactly with those given by other victims. Three men, all armed and masked, stopped his automobile in Charles County, about 2 miles south of La Plata.

Sheriff Robert V. Cooksey, of Charles County, mustered all available deputies and together with Maryland State police, began an extensive man hunt.

Musgrove said he was crossing a narrow bridge when his path was blocked by an automobile parked crosswise across the road. A man standing beside the stalled machine ordered him to back up. Musgrove reported, and as he complied two others jumped to the running board of his machine and at pistol point, ordered him to move from the driver's seat.

With Musgrove as their passenger, the trio drove several yards down a side road, where he was robbed of more than $200, authorities were told. The men then drove off, one of them in Musgrove's car.

On Main Highway.

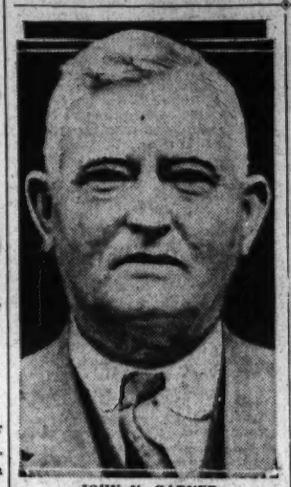
Meanwhile, an augmented force of police in St. Marys County was conducting a systematic search of all roads and byways. Deputy Sheriff John T. Smith, of Leonardtown, had been in conference with Sheriff Cooksey only a few minutes before Musgrove made his report and had taken a back road to return home. The robbery occurred on the main highway.

Citizens and store owners are exercising every precaution to avoid meeting the desperate gang. The roads are virtually deserted after nightfall and stores are locked at sundown.

Several suspects arrested in Washington are not believed connected with the case. Authorities here are of the opinion it is purely "a local gang" operating in their "home neighborhood."

J. A. Cecil, Leonardtown storekeeper, lost $220 early yesterday to the gang, after entrance had been forced to his store.

GARNER CHARGES G. O. P. REGIME HID FINANCIAL STATUS



JOHN N. GARNER.

States Confidence Factor Absent In Recovery.

Balanced Budget Is Held Essential to Prosperity.

The full text of Speaker Garner's address will be found on page 2.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Replying to Republican attacks, Speaker John N. Garner tonight charged the Hoover administration with concealing the true financial condition of the country during the crisis and declared the greatest need of the United States is a budget balanced by careful economy and scientific revenue.

"We have at this moment ever element to promote prosperity except one," the Democratic vice presidential nominee declared in a Nation-wide radio address. He spoke from New York.

"That one thing is confidence in our credit structure. To my mind the most needful thing is to put our financial house in order. I want to see our budget balanced by careful economy and scientific revenue.

"Money Will Flow Here."

"I say, the moment that is done, money will flow here from all the world and from all domestic hoards, seeking safety and employment."

The Speaker said that during the recent budget-balancing efforts, the "record shows that the administration was either hopelessly at sea as to the actual Treasury situation for two years or else deliberately concealed the true state of affairs. * * *

"The aspect most disturbing to American credit was that this Government had sat in concealment and inaction for two years and had allowed the world to believe that its finances were sound."

Murky Policy Charged.

Declaring that in his opinion it is "the administration's murky, involved and obscure financial policy that is responsible for much of the continued uncertain condition," the veteran Texas congressman said:

"Now I submit that the record shows a Democratic Congress determined and willing to go the limit for a balanced budget. It shows that the purpose has been frustrated by the same methods this administration has practiced for three consecutive years.

"The budget is not balanced. The whole job must be done over."

Tonight's was Speaker Garner's first talk over the radio. Admittedly nervous, he closeted himself alone in the broadcast booth. Amon Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, accompanied Mr. Garner to the skyscraper studio, but remained outside the booth.

Soon after his address, the Speaker left for his office in Washington. Early next week, it is expected, he will announce additional speaking engagements.

JOHNSON DECLINES TO SUPPORT HOOVER

California Republican Gives Answer to Query to 70 State Editors.

San Francisco, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A statement saying "I can not and I will not support Mr. Hoover" was issued here today by Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California Progressive Republican, in reply to representatives of 70 Southern California newspapers who had asked him for a public declaration in favor of the national and State Republican tickets.

Johnson, whose criticism of the administration recently brought words of praise from Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, asserted the President had "justly earned the title of ultra-conservative" while he (Johnson) was a Progressive Republican "elected by men and women of all shades of political opinion."

The California senator asserted the difference between the two political philosophies "could be particularized in a hundred acts of the existing national administration." He described the progressives as believing the Government belongs to all the people, "not to a favored or privileged few."

"The standpatter," said Johnson, "paying lip service to common humanity makes a mock of his words, by his court of special classes and his subserviency to special interests, and his indifference, as in the instances of the power trust and the sale of foreign securities to trusting American investors by international bankers, to the ruthless exploitation of our people."

Johnson asserted that when Mr. Hoover became President "his philosophy of government became apparent. Before that we knew little or nothing of his policies or politics. My views are those of a long lifetime. His have been acquired in the very brief period he has resided among us. * * *

"I would not taint my record nor stultify myself now by abandoning the principles for which I have battled unceasingly during my career. * * * The Republican party is not at stake in this campaign. It is only the ambition of one man who but a little more than a decade ago did not know which was his party, and who before that had no American party at all.

"In the present cataclysm, with 11,000,000 unemployed and suffering and want on every hand, the man who puts party fealty and his hope of political preferment above the welfare of our people does the worst possible disservice to his country."

Mrs. Keith-Miller Sails for England

Complies With Agreement With U.S.; Lancaster Off on Another Ship.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, the British aviatrix, left for home today aboard the ship American Banker. She departed in accordance with an agreement she made with the Labor Department. Commissioner Harry E. Hull, at Washington, said she was not deported.

A woman immigration officer accompanied her aboard the ship and saw her to her stateroom, however, to certify her departure.

Capt. William N. Lancaster, whose love affair with the aviatrix was described at his recent trial and acquittal in Miami for the slaying of Hayden Clarke, was among a small group of friends who saw her off.

Several hours later Capt. Lancaster sailed aboard the liner Scythia. He, too, was accompanied by an immigration officer who saw him to his cabin and waited on the pier until the ship was under way.

Talk for Hoover Slated By Theodore Roosevelt

Manila, P. I., Oct. 15 (A.P.).—Governor General Theodore Roosevelt said today he would deliver a Republican campaign address here, probably October 25, to be transmitted to the United States by short wave radio and there rebroadcast over a national hookup.

The speech will be made in the early morning so it will be available to American listeners in the evening. The time difference between the Philippines and America ranges from 18 to 19 hours. The governor will deliver his speech the morning of Tuesday, October 25, and American listeners will hear it the evening of Monday, October 24.

ROOSEVELT PLANS BONUS STATEMENT

Says He Will Make Known His Stand on Question in Near Future.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt turned tonight toward his Hyde Park home for a quiet week-end before setting forth on his sally into the Middlewestern, border and Southern States that may bring a declaration of his views on the bonus before he returns.

Thus far, the Democratic presidential candidate has not touched upon the bonus in any of his campaign speeches and has declined to discuss it in his press conferences, but friends of the governor believe he has made up his mind to speak on it before the campaign is over.

A letter to Thomas B. Delker, a Hammonton (N. J.) newspaper man, from the governor, made public today, said he would announce his attitude in the near future.

Says He Admires Veterans.

In response to the editor's question on Gov. Roosevelt's stand on the bonus question, the governor wrote:

"I expect to make known my views on the question of veterans' compensation in the near future. I believe that no one could have greater admiration and affection for our ex-service men than I have, and I deeply appreciate their services to their country. Coming in close contact with them, as I did in my duties as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, I developed an interest in them which has never diminished. You may be sure that I was deeply distressed by the unfortunate situation relative to the veterans at Washington."

Friends of the New York Governor expressed belief he is only waiting for the proper time and place to expound his views and they believe the forthcoming trip may provide the proper opportunity.

Texas Members Guests.

The governor had as luncheon guests today Senator Connally and Representative Jones, of Texas. Both are to campaign for him in Middle Western farming regions. Connally will speak in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, and Jones in Indiana, Missouri and Nebraska. Jones is chairman of the House agriculture committee.

The two expressed to Mr. Roosevelt the belief that he will be elected. Texas, they said was Roosevelt by "large plurality." During the luncheon, word came to them of the statement by Senator Johnson, California's Independent Republican, that he would not support President Hoover in the campaign.

Chaco Peace Plan Held Progressing

Neutrals Board Cables to League Negotiations Are Going Satisfactorily.

(Associated Press.)

The commission of neutral American nations seeking settlement of the Chaco boundary dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia told the League of Nations in a telegram made public last night that peace negotiations were proceeding "satisfactorily."

The communication was in reply to one released at the same time from Eamonn de Valera, president of the League Council and chairman of its special Chaco committee, suggesting that the two armies be withdrawn to safe distances and a commission of military officers be sent to report on measures for reducing danger of further fighting.

Assistant Secretary Francis White, replying for the neutrals, said such a proposal had already been made to the disputants.

Garner Called Help In Dry Act Reform

O'Connor Says He Assisted in Bringing Question Before House.

(Associated Press.)

Representative O'Connor (Democrat), New York, in a formal statement yesterday, said Speaker Garner "was of the greatest assistance in bringing the prohibition question before the House." He said this in denying a statement by F. Trubee Davison, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor of New York, that Speaker Garner "wielded the big stick of suppression by denying the House an opportunity to vote on the O'Connor beer bill."

"No statement could be farther from the truth," said Mr. O'Connor. "It is at least a gross misrepresentation of Speaker Garner's attitude and if it is not malicious, it is due to misinformation furnished Mr. Davison."

Daughter-in-Law Of President Here

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., Joins Her Husband on Trip East.

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr., wife of the oldest son of the President and Mrs. Hoover, arrived at the White House yesterday for a short visit.

Accompanying her husband on a business trip East from their home in Pasadena, Calif., the younger Mrs. Hoover did not bring with her their children, Peggy Ann and Herbert Hoover 3d, who in the past have been White House guests.

Herbert Hoover, jr., stopped off en route to Washington and did not arrive with his wife at the Executive Mansion.

House Member to Speak To Democratic Women

Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Nashville, Tenn., will speak at the weekly forum luncheon of the Women's National Democratic Club Monday.

Mr. Byrns has served for 25 years in the House of Representatives and is chairman of the appropriations committee and the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

Oil Firm to Go on 5-Day Week.

Bartlesville, Okla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Phillips Petroleum Co. today announced it would adopt the five day week plan November 1. Salaries of employes receiving less than $100 a month will not be cut. Those receiving more than $100 will get less pay in accordance with reduction in hours.

TEXT OF SPEAKER GARNER'S ADDRESS

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Following is the text of the radio address delivered tonight by John Nance Garner, Democratic candidate for Vice President:

Let me begin this plain recital of the issues and processes of this campaign with the statement that I have every respect for an opinion contrary to my own, providing it is sincere. Now I have been in Congress for 30 years during Republican and Democratic administrations. During that time I hope I have learned that no man and no party have a monopoly of good intentions or of intelligence.

It was the proudest moment of my life when I became the Speaker of the House. The pride I felt in attaining to what I regard as the most potent office in the Government with the exception of the Presidency was mitigated with a sense of the responsibility it involved. This was particularly so because I succeeded a great man and a great Speaker, my closest, dearest friend, Nick Longworth, a square shooter if there ever was one and a Republican as devoted to the principles of his party as I hope I am to mine. We had our battles and there was an intellectual pleasure, you may be sure, in fighting one another, for Nick Longworth was a sportsman and played the game according to the rules.

My desire is that we should conduct this campaign as fairly and as cleanly and as truthfully as the legislative battles to which I have referred were conducted.

After all, this political struggle is simple in its essence. There are two schools of thought. The welfare of the country depends on which of these schools is right and which is wrong. There is no occasion for personality, no excuse for abuse.

I know I have been represented in certain partisan arguments as a dangerous radical, either without the disposition to understand great public questions or with a satanic desire to turn things topsy turvy with some wild idea of destruction.

Urges High Plane Of Political Debate.

Actually I am a plain business man who has happened to have had a long legislative experience as the representative of a conservative community. This experience has endowed me with a fair realization, I hope, of the problems of government. As a member of the ways and means committee, every fiscal problem, for example, has been perforce a matter of study, for I assure you that we in Congress are as cognizant of our responsibilities and as much alive to the requirements of our trust as any other Government official, from the President down.

I have referred to certain absurd representations in regard to myself. It is no more necessary for me to charge every evil to Mr. Hoover because he is President than it is to ascribe every defeated House bill to John Garner because he is Speaker. I have too much respect for the high office of the President to reply in kind to certain charges. I want to try to bring the political debate back to the high level which its extreme gravity requires and stick solely to a fair statement of facts from the printed record. Let my hearers draw their own conclusions and use their own cuss words if they are so disposed.

My contention, of course, is that the present administration in Washington has neither been efficient in its performance nor frank in its explanations. Naturally the minds of all of us are on our present industrial and commercial plight. The administration has told you that the depression came from abroad. Let us see if it did.

Did the depression come from abroad? Our export business is less than 8 per cent of our total business and the par value of foreign loans about 8 per cent of our wealth. Say we have lost half of all this foreign stake, or 4 per cent of wealth and business. Does that account for the 40 per cent to 50 per cent loss of both? Two million people were employed in production for export—half of them are out of work. Does that explain our 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 unemployed? We consume 50 per cent of the world's production of raw material. The 1929 crash hit here first. It was like an avalanche. By that sudden disruption of so much of human commerce, we rocked the world from pole to pole. The depression did not come from Europe. It came from our own folly and illusion, not the least of which was that prosperity was so great that poverty would soon be abolished.

Cites Hoover's Farm Relief Program of 1928.

But I am not content to rest on general charges. I want to trace cause to effect in the cold print of the record. Mr. Hoover says he has an exclusive personal program now to temper disaster. He had one in 1928 to insure prosperity. Let's look at that. Let us begin with agriculture.

I quote from the President:

"The most urgent economic problem * * * is in agriculture. * * * We have pledged ourselves to find a solution. * * * An adequate tariff is the foundation. * * * Modernization (of inland waterways) will comprise a substantial contribution (he estimated 7 cents to 10 cents per bushel) * * *. We should have completed the Mississippi system within the next four years. * * * The platform * * * pledges a Federal Farm Board * * * to build up, with Federal finance farmer-owned * * * stabilization corporations which will protect the farmer from the depressions and demoralization of seasonal gluts and periodical surpluses."

There we have his specific program in his own words. How did it work? The Smoot-Hawley tariff on the one hand gave higher rates and on the other destroyed export farm markets. The St. Lawrence waterway is not begun; the Mississippi project is years from fulfillment. The Farm Board is an acknowledged failure. Let the farmer draw his own conclusions about the new twelve-point program.

Next on the 1928 program were industry and labor. (I quote again:)

"We have increased production approximately 30 per cent while our population has increased only about 10 per cent. * * * This is proof of real progress. * * * It is the road to abolition of poverty. * * * I have heard voices raised in protest that the effect of these activities is to destroy employment, this is a re-echo of a century ago * * * we have led the world in substituting machines for hand labor. This * * * enables us to produce goods much in excess of our needs. * * * To insure continuous employment * * * we must find a profitable market for these surpluses. * * * We must sell more products abroad if we would have steady and assured employment for labor in our industries."

Those are the President's own words and he further said:

"It is an essential part of the sound expression of our foreign trade that we should interest ourselves in the development of backward or crippled countries by means of loans. * * * The loan is * * * exported * * * in goods." Let me continue the quotation:

"Foreign trade * * * can prosper only under sound financial policies. * * * Taxes and expenditures of public moneys have come to bear a vital part in business stability. * * * Errors in that delicate adjustment can cause us fabulous losses. * * *"

Tax Balance Errors Caused Fabulous Losses.

There is his industrial program in his own words. It violated Mr. Hoover's advice to the lawyers last Wednesday when he spoke of seductive and unworkable theories that promise a millennium. Every element of this plan was error and every error brought disaster.

Financing loans to crippled countries was folly. Increasing tariffs destroyed foreign trade and made debt payment impossible. Errors in the delicate balance of taxes and spending did cause fabulous losses and upset the stability of business.

On this specific record covering the whole field of our economics my sole comment is two questions: How about the foreign alibi? How about the myth of business reliance on Republican leadership?

In 1932 we have a new edition of the 1928 myth—something like this: Last winter a wave of fiscal destruction rolled in from Europe on the embattled administration until, at its crisis, our gold standard had two weeks to live. Our form of Government was in the balance. In spite of flank attacks by the Democratic Congress, the administration saved the day and came out with an exclusive program which has defeated the depression. Thank God for this Republican administration.

I hasten to disclaim any sarcasm. What I have just said was a fair paraphrase of the Des Moines speech. If it sounds sarcastic, it is only because of the absurdity of the original. Let's get down to the record. Nobody doubts that there was a financial panic, which threatened our banking and credit system. But the vital question for voters is: "What caused it?" Mr. Hoover says (I quote):

"Critical assaults and dangers swept upon us from foreign countries." But he also said in his annual message:

"The fundamental difficulties which have brought about financial strain in foreign countries do not exist in the United States."

In other words, Mr. Hover presents that Europe was broke and America sound, so Europeans rushed to get their money out of here and take it back to the very seat of trouble. I also leave that alibi to the judgment of American common sense.

Points to More Frankness in December.

We couldn't listen to that one even if there had been no cause for panic here. But there was cause here big enough to panic any country. Back in 1928 Mr. Hoover said (I quote again):

"The assessment of taxes and expenditures of public moneys have come to bear a vital part in business stability. We have adopted a measure of Federal control of credit. Errors in that delicate adjustment can cause us fabulous losses."

Mr. Hoover's "errors in that delicate adjustment" are also called deficits. Last December this administration was a little more frank about the cause of the panic. Mr. Hoover said:

"The first requirement of confidence and of economic recovery is financial stability of the United States Government * * * I must at this time call attention to the magnitude of the deficits which have developed * * *"

There we have it * * * Deficits * * * The cause of every panic since the world began. Why should there be any talk about mysterious foreign forces?

Who is responsible for those deficits and (more important still) how did it happen that we didn't hear about them till they became so dangerous? Let me quote from the President's budget message delivered in 1929, six weeks after the worst crash in history—an event mathematically certain to cut down Federal revenue:

"With an estimated surplus of over $225,000,000 this year" (1930) "and $122,000,000 next year" (1931) * * * "Some reduction in taxes is justified * * * Our finances are in sound condition * * * Our estimated expenditures * * * are well within our expected receipts." That budget also proposed increased spending in two years of $430,000,000 more than we spent in 1929.

You remember that every prudent manager of home or business was then trimming sails. But an administration charged with preserving a delicate balance on which it said business stability depended, moved in exactly the opposite direction.

Errors of Billions Charged to Treasury.

By December, 1930, every source of Federal revenue had diminished 25 per cent. Huge deficits were inevitable. But this administration estimated a current deficit of only $180,000,000 with a small surplus for 1932, or a two-year deficit of only $150,000,000 and said, "Nor do I look with great concern upon this moderate deficit." It suggested no new taxes—no decreased spending. Was that frankness? Was that dealing honestly with the Congress?

December, 1931, is the period portrayed in the President's Des Moines speech. The deficit for that year had now been revealed as $900,000,000—an error of $1,000,000,000 in the "delicate adjustment." The annual message admitted a deficit of over $2,000,000,000 for 1932. Within seven months that proved to be nearly another $1,000,000,000 error and the two years' deficit originally estimated at $150,000,000, turned out to be nearly $4,000,000,000.

I know these monumental figures are tedious to listen to. They can be summed up, however, in terms more easily remembered. The record shows that the administration was either hopelessly at sea as to the actual Treasury situation for two years or else deliberately concealed the true state of affairs, deceiving the country until concealment was no longer possible.

No other country ever experienced such fiscal catastrophe and escaped collapse. The news began to leak out in the autumn. The aspect most disturbing to American credit was that this great Government had sat in concealment and inaction for two years and had allowed the world to believe that its finances were sound. Coupled with that (if not caused by it) was the disturbing news of the black business year of 1931—no seasonal autumn rise but instead a greater relative decline in employment, business, earnings and prices than in many of the "backward and crippled" countries. Europeans and Americans alike began a rush to get out from under. The panic was on.

Now I am not going to characterize this conduct. It is up to my hearers to decide whether European bugbears or maladministration of Government finances brought the credit crash last winter.

The question will naturally arise: Why did this administration play so fast and loose? Said Mr. Hoover at Des Moines (I quote):

U. S. Gold Standard Is Declared Safe.

"Some assured me that no man could propose increased taxes in the United States to balance the budget in the midst of depression and survive an election."

I think we might keep that quotation in mind, not only as to the record I have given, but when we consider what happened in the last Congress.

Before coming to a discussion of the relative part played by the Executive and by Congress in the recent session, let me take up perhaps the most alarming declaration that was ever made by a President of the United States. Let me give it to you in the President's own words, at Des Moines:

"The Secretary of the Treasury informed me," said Mr. Hoover, "that unless we could put into effect a remedy, we could not hold the gold standard but two weeks longer because of inability to meet the demands of foreigners and our own citizens for gold."

And also "we were fighting to hold the Gibraltar of world stability, because only by holding this last fortress could we be saved from a crashing world, with a decade of misery and the very destruction of our form of government. * * *"

Think of that, the President gravely told you that we were within two weeks of world collapse, ten years of misery, and revolution, and were only saved by the adroitness, promptness and wisdom of the administration.

I do not intend to go into the delicate technique of the gold standard and its absolute connotation. It would be different if I were addressing an audience of expert accountants and financial adepts. I will merely suggest that a gold country doesn't have to keep 100 cents in gold in the till for every paper dollar any more than a bank has to keep all deposits in cash. You only have to keep a safe ratio. What ratio is safe depends on confidence.

Back in last February, which was the time referred to by the President, our paper money had the heaviest gold backing, with two exceptions, of any paper money in the world.

Democrats Framed Bill to Aid Currency.

I can tell you without fear of contradiction that to say we were within two weeks of the edge of the gold standard because of any lack of gold is a libel on the credit of the United States.

Just then, due to business stagnation, there were not many eligible commercial I. O. U.'s in the market. If the supply got much lower you would have to have 100 cents in gold behind every paper dollar. The difficulty was not in going off the gold standard. It was of going further on the gold standard.

What happened? The administration came to Congress and said: "The Government's I. O. U.'s are as good as commercial ones. Let's make them eligible also as backing for paper money." A Democratic senator and a Democratic representative framed the measure and Congress passed that law immediately and almost unanimously. That was the Glass-Steagall act. And now this slight amendment of the Federal Reserve act is being advanced as saving the Gibraltar of world stability and preventing an American revolution and ten years of misery.

You don't have to be a financial wizard to know that the Glass-Steagall act didn't create any gold. It was advisable to make our currency more flexible, and it did.

Here is the way the President, at Des Moines, described the event:

"In the midst of this hurricane the Republican administration kept a cool head and rejected every counsel of weakness."

A counsel of weakness is exactly what it did not reject. There was only one counsel of strength and that was to turn over a new leaf, and, after two years of shadow-boxing to come out into the open and balance the budget. This it what Mr. Hoover says it did (I quote):

"We determined we would stand up like men and render the credit of the United States Government impregnable through the drastic reduction of Government expenditures and increased revenue, until we balanced the budget."

If so—when? Not when the crash came in 1929. Not in 1930 when deficits were certain. No. The policy was to hide and not to stand—to try to maintain confidence by abusing confidence.

Now let us take up the hectic time when Congress was confronted with the task of balancing the budget—about two years late. The first administration indictment of Democrats in that Congress is that the President proposed drastic economy and the Democrats forestalled it. I have got to talk again in big figures. The budget message of December 9 recited "actual expenditures 1931, $4,091,633,908; proposed expenditures 1933, $3,996,672,450." The drastic economy suggested there was a cut of less than two and a half per cent.

Collected Accurate Data on Revenue.

On February 11 last Chairman Crisp, of the House committee on ways and means, quoted the Secretary of the Treasury as saying the very limit of further economy was only $80,000,000, or 2 per cent. This was the time the President says the Secretary told him the end of the gold standard was two weeks away. The President made one statement after another, both in public and private, that the possibility of further savings was practically nil. All was sweetness and light. But then came a rude shock.

About that time I sent to Democratic Leader Rainey some private studies indicating overestimates of nearly $1,000,000,000 in the Treasury figures of receipts. I quote the result from Mr. Rainey's speech in the Congressional Record:

"It was not ten minutes till they convinced me that the deficit was wrong—then we took the matter up with Undersecretary Mills. He said 'they may be right.'"

In a few days we got a Treasury revision downward of $450,000,000. From that moment, the whole subject went into a State of constant flux and uncertainty. One private expert authority after another went on record that the Treasury figures were a billion dollars out even after this revision. The Treasury seemed to resent this. On April 22 the Secretary said, "The Treasury program calls for * * * balance * * * in the sense there will be no further increase in the public debt."

Right up to the day the new tax bill became law, both he and the President continued to say that the various proposed revenue bills would balance the budget.

When the House ways and means committee examined the first Treasury tax bill it found an unscientific collection of special manufacturers' excises which it considered subversive of business and wholly inadequate. Experience has justified their fears. Collections are running about 45 per cent of estimates. The committee rejected the Treasury suggestion in favor of a more general manufacturers' excise as the only way to balance the budget. The Treasury advised against that and stuck to its own plan, but its attitude became wholly flaccid and neutral and so remained. The administration did not raise a finger to help in the ensuing fight.

Refused to Revive Old Gag Rule in House.

The committee reported the general excise. Catching the whole House in a nervous mood, a leading Republican, Mr. LaGuardia, of New York, seized an opportunity—I will not say "organized a revolt." I was pressed to try to revive the old Republican gag rule. I refused it as utterly inconsistent with Democratic principle.

Republican speakers say the Democrats controlled the House. We had a nominal majority of five. The final vote against the committee bill was 223 to 153. I knew that the national security depended on a balanced budget. The important thing was result, not method. The administration which now says that world credit and American revolution depended on the result then stood aside and chuckled and jeered. The record bears out my judgment at that great crisis. The story can not be better told than by quoting from the Congressional Record of March 29. I took an unusual course for a Speaker of the House. I relinquished the chair and addressed the House (I quote the Record):

"I am now opposed to a sales tax: but, gentlemen, if I find it impossible to balance the budget and restore the confidence of the world * * * in our Government without some such tax, I would levy any tax, sales or any other kind, in order to do that. I think more of my country than of any theory of taxation.

"Last Saturday, as well as yesterday, the people of the world realized that Congress, by a gesture, had indicated that it did not intend to balance the budget. What was the result? * * * If this Congress should decline to levy a tax bill * * * the shock * * * would be such that there would be financial panic such as has never been equalled in this republic. * * * At the risk of being criticized, I want to give to the world and to the country today * * * an expression of this House so that the world and the country may realize that we are going to balance this budget. * * * I want every man and woman in the House * * * who is willing to go along with that effort to balance the budget to rise in their seats. * * * Now. * * * Those who do not want to balance the budget can rise in their seats."

That was a real instance of "standing on feet like men." Every soul in the House arose. From that moment there was never a question of the attitude of Congress. They gave the Treasury every cent it asked for, and always under the continued assurance that what they gave balanced the budget.

Newspaper Charges Deficits Concealed.

Disquieting criticism was rife. A great newspaper openly charged the administration with a new concealment of deficits. Senator Tydings, of Maryland, made that charge on the Senate floor. The administration was adamant. I quote from the New York Times, June 5:

"Just before the House cast its final vote (on the tax bill) Secretary of the Treasury Mills announced that the amount would guarantee a balanced budget."

Well, what are the facts?

I quote from two special articles by Mr. Robey, financial editor of the New York Evening Post, one of the most partisan pro-administration journals in this country.

September 9 (I quote):

"The campaign of optimism for the past several weeks has diverted attention almost completely from the state of our Federal finances. It still is assumed by the public * * * that our national budget is in approximate balance * * * as a matter of fact the result so far during this fiscal year has been especially bad—even much worse than it was in the corresponding period last year."

Last year, to which Mr. Robey refers, the total deficit ran over 2.8 billions. At the end of the first quarter the deficit was 380 millions. On the same date in 1932 the daily Treasury report shows a deficit of about 403 millions.

That is only part of the story. Before I read from Mr. Robey's second article let me quote President Hoover—New York Times, May 28, 1932:

"It will serve no good purpose and fool no one to cover appearances by resorting to the so-called 'extraordinary budget.' That device is well known. It brought the governments of certain foreign countries to the brink of disaster."

Now I quote the second article in the proadministration Post, under this heading: "Real deficit is $680,000,000. Treasury figures of $400,000,000 do not include advance to R. F. C." The article proceeds:

"Washington statements about our Federal finances continue to be incomplete and misleading. The most recent one places the deficit * * * at $400,000,000 * * * during the period the public debt * * * increased $680,000,000 * * * there is every reason to object to picking out just one group of special expenditures and setting them aside in a special budget. That is what the Treasury is doing today * * * the policy can not be justified even on an accounting basis * * * especial care should be taken in seeing that the public has all the facts. The Treasury is not doing this * * *"

Declares Whole Job Must Be Done Over.

Now I submit that the record shows a Democratic Congress determined and willing to go the limit for a balanced budget. It shows that the purpose has been frustrated by the same methods this administration has practised for three consecutive years. The budget is not balanced. The whole job must be done over.

The Republicans claim exclusive credit for the emergency laws of the last session of Congress. They list a lot of defeated bills and call them "the Democratic program." At Des Moines it was said that Democrats controlled the policy of both House and Senate. Now on this state of facts I have only one appeal to make to the common sense of the country and that is a question:

"If the Democrats controlled the policy of both houses, how could the enacted legislation be the exclusive program of the Republican administration and the defeated bills the exclusive program of the controlling Democratic Congress?"

Now I have neither the intention nor desire of calling names. I do not wish to be understood as attributing to the administration any perversity or deliberate intention to prolong the country's troubles or to delay the country's recovery. I merely believe that the administration was bewildered, was unable to control the resistance of the Cabinet departments to an adequate diminution of their budgets and could not bring itself to take the responsibility that belonged to it. Hence it adhered to the policy evidenced at the beginning of the depression of minimizing the emergency, and because it had no adequate program of its own, attempted to pick flaws in the only constructive process that had been advanced.

The adopted emergency program consists of three great parts: (1) The balancing of the budget, which both the President and I say was the indispensable foundation stone of all; (2) the purely financial measures to support private credit; (3) the humanitarian measures to relieve unemployment and to insure against human misery.

The cold print of the record shows that on the very heart of the whole program, the balanced budget, the Democratic Congress did all that it was possible to do and that the Republican administration frustrated their action by supplying inaccurate and misleading estimates.

Coalition Enacted Financial Measures.

The purely financial measures were coalition enactments, passed through the Congress with perfect accord and practical unanimity. For those things neither the President nor Congress is entitled to exclusive credit. As difficult even to attribute the origin of these to one or the other elements of the Government. There were suggestions and countersuggestions in the framing of them and accord on the final drafts.

It was otherwise with the humanitarian part of the program. For the humanitarian part this administration has no credit. The provision for hunger loans and self-liquidating construction were exclusively of Democratic origin and were literally forced through over the administration's stubborn resistance recorded at every step and continued until just before the end of the session when Democratic persistence and a rising tide of public indignation compelled the administration to yield.

I say that if you balance the routine budget of ordinary expenditure and revenue fairly, honestly and openly and principally by the plan proposed in the Democratic platform of a 25 per cent reduction in expense, then you will establish the credit of the United States in the eyes of the whole world and that you can then borrow fairly, openly and in the recognized and orthodox fashion all that we may need to finance our emergency needs in this depression.

But to accomplish this we must have an administration that will look the situation square in the face, that will undertake and agree to an actual and not a more theoretical balancing of the budget, that will do the necessary borrowing without evasion, that will cease to conceal deficits, and will not use the provisions of the Glass-Steagall bill to muddy the financial waters. With a balanced budget, no such subterfuge would be necessary. In my opinion, it is the administration's murky, involved and obscure financial policy that is responsible for much of the continued uncertain conditions.

Believes U. S. on Road To Economic Recovery.

The important thing is not whether Herbert Hoover or John Garner is the greater authority on finance and legislation. It is merely a question of whether directness and adequacy and frankness is more likely to put and keep us on the road to economic recovery, than pollyanna statements and hiding the truth, and substituting pretense for actuality, because it may be more palatable to the electorate.

Our country has been in a bad way. Like every other American who has faith in our institutions, I believe that we are on the way to recovery and that if we face the facts that recovery will come much sooner than if we play a double game of subtlety and deception on our own people. Because of my position in the Government, I know there was never a warrant for saying that we were on the edge of financial collapse, world crash and Government failure. The whole thing is absurd. I can not conceive that either Mr. Mellon or Mr. Mills should have made such a statement, nor can I conceive that President Hoover would have uttered such an obvious error unless somebody had told him that such was the fact.

I must assume that the President's recollection is faulty, for it seems perfectly plain that if such an emergency had arisen that he must have communicated it to the legislative branch of the Government, which alone could have effected corrective legislation. Certainly the Speaker of the House of Representatives would have known had there ever been such communication from the President.

There is nothing the matter with the finances and credit of the United States except gross mismanagement. We have at this moment every element to promote prosperity except one. That one thing is confidence in our credit structure. To my mind the most needful thing is to put our financial house in order. I want to see our budget balanced by careful economy and scientific revenue. I say the moment that is done money will flow here from all the world and from all domestic hoards, seeking safety and employment, and then that we shall move back into God's sunlight faster than any of us dream.

Absentee voters from New York State, who are at present residing in Washington, have but a few days to register if they plan to vote in the coming presidential election, it was announced yesterday by the Republican State committee for the District.

In a warning to hundreds of Washingtonians, who are here from New York and plan to return home to vote, the committee pointed out that personal registration is required in places of 5,000 or more population.

Registration in New York City closes at 10 o'clock tonight. Remaining registration days in other cities are Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22. The warning also pointed to the few days remaining in other States.

Adams Signs Rule Delaying Weddings

Naval Academy Graduates Must Wait Two Years Before Marrying.

(Associated Press.)

The new Navy general order prohibiting the marriage of Naval Academy graduates within two years after they leave Annapolis was signed yesterday by Secretary Adams.

This ban was announced recently. The reason given for it was that matrimony interfered with the careers of young naval officers.

Marriage during the first two years was barred until Josephus Daniels became Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson administration. He held that the young officers could marry as soon as they finished at Annapolis, and this has been permitted until the present time. The new order will take effect with the class which graduates next June.

DEATH IS DEMANDED IN SWEAT-BOX CASE

Prosecutor Tells Jury on Prison Guards They Merit Victim's Penalty.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Samuel B. Wilson, assistant States attorney, told a jury today its duty is to assess George Courson and Solomon Higginbotham the same death penalty the former prison guards inflicted by torture on young Arthur Maillefert. Defense counsel argued the man's only offenses were minor infractions of prison rules.

The death verdict, said Wilson, would be just judgment not only on the death of the prisoner strangled in a sweat box at Sunbeam prison camp, but on the "hellish convict system of Florida as well."

C. A. Avriett, counsel for Courson, contended his client's only misdeed was a violation of the prison regulations in using stocks, chains and a barrel which was placed over Maillefert's body. He said there was no law in this State prohibiting the use of the instruments, and told the jury: "The point had been reached where punishment as prescribed by the regulations proved inadequate, and other measures had to be employed to subdue that recalcitrant boy."

Earlier in the day a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Higginbotham had been denied. Counsel for Courson did not present such a motion.

Maillefert, serving nine years for a filling station robbery at Daytona Beach, was found dead in the little punishment cell last June 3, hanging on a chain locked around his neck and tied to a rafter. His feet were bound in stocks.

Man Indicted in Deaths Of Brother and Girl, 19

Lima, Ohio, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Loren Truesdale, 23, was indicted late today on a first degree murder charge for the deaths of his brother, Earl, 20, and Miss Thelma Woods, 19, whose bodies were found in a water-filled quarry here more than sixteen months ago.

Loren was arrested on September 1 when police quoted him as saying he killed his brother because he was "always taking my girls from me." Miss Woods was slain, according to the purported confession, because Loren was afraid she would talk.

KILLED

BETTY WALKER.

Gaithersburg Child Is Killed by Truck

Mother Sees 5-Year-Old Girl Die as She Leaves Bus.

Five-year-old Betty Walker was struck and almost instantly killed yesterday as she ran from a Montgomery County school bus toward the waiting arms of her mother across Frederick avenue, in Gaithersburg, Md. The mother was a horror-stricken spectator of the accident.

The little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Walker and a niece of County Treasurer J. Forrest Walker, had just started her school career in the kindergarten of the Gaithersburg School a month ago. In company with other children from the kindergarten, she was brought to her home in the school bus operated by Harold Good, with a teacher, Miss Ella Mossburg, of Barnesville, as guardian.

When the bus reached her corner she spied her mother waiting for her and jumped from the door of the bus to the ground before the teacher could get out. She ran to the front of the bus and started across the street and ran into the side of a truck of the Laytonsville Milk Producers, Inc., operated by Carlton L. Wachter, of Laytonsville. The rear right wheel of the truck passed over her body.

Thomas Expounds Farm Relief Points

Socialist Nominee Carries Campaign Into Kansas Wheat Belt.

Manhattan, Kans., Oct. 14 (A.P.). Bringing his campaign into the wheat belt, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for the Presidency, outlined in an address today in the Kansas State College Auditorium, a five-point program for agriculture.

Summarizing his views of the farm situation, Thomas said "agriculture, like industry, requires the Socialist society" and that "on the way to it socialism offers:

"1. Drastic tax reform for farmers.

"2. Cost reduction to farmers by socializing the farm machine combine, &c., and by reducing tariffs.

"3. Price raising for farmers by increasing the power of wage workers to buy, by socializing processing agencies, by creating a Federal nonprofit marketing agency, and by controlled inflation through our program of unemployment relief.

"4. Debt reduction by the same process of controlled inflation, a moratorium on foreclosures, and a refunding and actual reduction of farm debt accompanied by a capital levy on wealth to meet the cost of this and other debt reduction.

"5. National and regional planning for the most efficient use of land."

DEMOCRATIC TARIFF POLICY HIT BY REED

Displays Number of Articles to Support His Plan for Adjustable Duty.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, called together a group of newspapermen yesterday to view an exhibit assembled to illustrate his contention that tariffs should be adjusted to meet the effect of depreciated foreign currencies.

More than 300 articles, ranging from structural steel to tuna fish, were spread over the long table in the finance committee room where tariff bills are framed and argued about. He said they were given to the Customs Bureau by American manufacturers who complained that the depreciated currencies of foreign nations were "vitiating" the tariff rates of this country.

Picking up an electric light bulb, Senator Reed said it was made and sold by the General Electric Co. at $3.72 a hundred. He said similar lights were being imported from Japan at $3.12 a hundred.

Urges Democratic Explanation.

"I would like to hear Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Co., who is supporting Gov. Roosevelt, explain the application of the Democratic competitive tariff to this product," said Mr. Reed.

"The campaign would be very much clarified if Gov. Roosevelt and Owen D. Young would explain the competitive tariff. This competitive tariff obviously means a lowering of the present tariff scale. How the industry of this country can stand a lowering of duties is beyond my comprehension."

Reed is chairman of the special Senate committee named to investigate the effects of depreciated currencies on the American tariff. He said he would call the committee together as soon as Congress meets.

Favors Adjustable Duty.

"In my judgment," he said, "the remedy lies in an adjustable duty that will compensate for this abnormal situation. For one thing, I would favor calculating costs of foreign goods on the par value of the currency rather than on the gold value.

"I find that Democratic senators are complaining to the Treasury about this problem as much as Republicans. The only difference between Republicans and Democrats on the tariff is that we favor protection for the whole country and they are only interested in protection of products in their own States. For instance, Speaker Garner got a tariff on goats, but was against the tariff bill."

F. X. A. Eble, commissioner of customs, who attended the showing, said the exhibit was made public at the order of the Treasury upon request of Chairman Smoot, of finance committee.

British Labor Chief Ousted by Belfast

Tom Mann Deported After Funeral of Victims of Jobless Riot.

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Tom Mann, British left wing labor leader, who came here to address unemployed meetings, was deported today after he had served as a pallbearer at the funeral of one of the two victims of this week's jobless riots.

Mann was escorted by four detectives to the boat for Heysham, Lancashire. He was put aboard an hour before the ship sailed and asked to remain in his cabin. There was no demonstration in connection with his departure.

London, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—After President Eamon de Valera and British government officials had talked all today about methods of settling the economic warfare between Britain and the Irish Free State, a noncommittal statement was issued saying that the conversations would continue tomorrow.

PIRATES SHIELD TWO WOMEN IN SHIP RAID

rushed the bridge, disabled the wireless and overpowered the officers, locking them as well as the passengers in cabins.

The pirates attempted to disguise the vessel by repainting the funnels. Once, when another ship appeared astern, they thought they were being pursued by a warship and they threatened to kill the officers if the other craft attempted to investigate. She passed without hail.

Loot from the Helikon was transferred to junks in Heichechin Bay. Shortly after the pirates had departed the destroyers Bruce and Wishart reached the Helikon. When the steamer came into Hongkong Harbor it was suspected several members of the looting expedition still were aboard, masquerading as passengers. On two previous occasions the Helikon was a victim of pirates.

Miss Boynton and Mrs. Van Driest said they were terribly anxious during the raid, but were relieved when the pirates seemed to be amused by their phonograph.

TUMULTY SPEAKER AT COUNTY RALLIES

Nearly 2,000 Democrats in Montgomery Hear Him Rap G.O.P. Regime.

Nearly 2,000 Montgomery County, Md., Democrats yesterday and last night attended a series of three rallies held at Rockville, Bethesda and Silver Spring under auspices of the Democratic State Central Committee of Maryland.

Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson during the latter's administration; Senator Millard F. Tydings and Representative David J. Lewis, candidates for reelection; State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, of Montgomery County, who is being mentioned as successor of Judge Robert B. Peter in the county circuit court; E. Barrett Prettyman, who was candidate of the Progressive Democratic faction in the county elections; State Senator Robert G. Hilton and other prominent Democrats spoke at the rallies.

Mr. Tumulty declared in the principal address that "if America wants to wipe out the scars of prohibition" and "reclaim its freedoom," it can do so by supporting the Democratic nominees, Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

"Fate has been kind to the Democratic party," said Mr. Tumulty. "The Democratic convention has brought forth two men, tried and true, who think alike on the great burning issue of the hour—prohibition. They see the solution of this great question through the same eyes."

The allusion to the prohibition part of the Democratic campaign pattern came at the conclusion of Mr Tumulty's speech, in which he generally ripped and tore at the Republican party, its record and its platform, and just as vehemently sang the praises of the accomplishments and potentialities of the Democratic party.

"From Republican statesmen," said Mr. Tumulty, "we hear much criticism of Democratic leadership They constantly view with alarm but never point with pride."

He declared that throughout the financial crisis that has threatened, President Hoover has had the support of Democratic leaders, including Senator Carter Glass, former Senator Atlee Pomerene, Jesse Jones, Newton D. Baker, Owen D. Young, Bernard Baruch, Senators Pat Harrison and Joseph Robinson and Speaker John Garner.

Tumulty characterized the Democrating platform as "clear as crystal with a fine line of sincerity running through it," while the Republican platform, he said, was "muddy, insincere, indecisive, a veritable crossword puzzle of meaningless, ambiguous phrases."

Jessie Bonstelle, Noted Theater Owner, Is Dead

Detroit, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Miss Jessie Bonstelle, "maker of stars," whose name for 20 years shone in electric lights as a Detroit theater director and owner, died today, in the midst of a fight to keep intact her civic theater, one of the few similar enterprises in the country.

A heart attack induced by a heavy cold brought death to the former actress who, during her years of theatrical activity in Detroit, developed such stage and screen stars as Ann Harding, Katherine Cornell, Ben Lyon, Melvyn Douglas, Frank Morgan, Jessie Royce Landis and Minor Watson.

through the regular daily routine at the executive offices. Callers withheld the customary handshake upon entering the President's private office, but all reported "business as usual" in all other respects.

The ordeal of greeting almost 2,000 guests at the reception Thursday left the President's hand badly swollen and bruised. The flesh between the fingers had been lacerated and other wounds inflicted by the repeated pressure of women's jewelry.

"The President is in his normal good condition today," Capt. Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., the White House physician, said yesterday. "His hand is bruised and has several small cuts in the palm and betwen the fingers. The palm is black and blue, but the injury while painful was not serious."

Among the White House callers yesterday was Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, who assured the President, he said, that he need feel no concern over the election results in the Keystone State. Senator Reed plans to deliver two speeches in the Pittsburgh area near the windup of the campaign, but will devote most of his time to other States.

Arrangements have been made for his appearance in Buffalo, Wheeling and Providence. The Republican organization in Pennsylvania is hard at work and those in touch with the campaign there have no fears whatever that the State's 36 electoral votes might slip from the Republican column, "straw votes to the contrary notwithstanding," Senator Reed added.

In Ohio, reports to Republican State headquarters have been less positive, but leaders who came to Washington last week to perfect arrangements for the President's trip said the Cleveland speech should assure the State's 25 electoral votes to the Republican ticket.

In the nine presidential elections since 1896, Ohio has gone Democratic only twice—in 1912, when the Republican party was split by the Bull Moose revolt, and in 1916, when Wilson carried it by a slight margin.

Normally, Ohio is Republican in presidential years by anything from 150,000 to 500,000. Calvin Coolidge carried the State by about the latter figure in 1924.

55,000 Request Seats To Hear Hoover in Ohio

Cleveland, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The largest demand for seats at a Republican gathering here since the 1924 national convention has been made for President Hoover's address in the public auditorium tomorrow night, John D. Marshall, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, said tonight.

Revised arrangements to bring the seating capacity for the President's appearance to more than 28,000 were made, Marshall said, after the committee received requests for approximately 55,000 reservations.

Four halls in the auditorium—where Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency eight years ago—have been rented, Marshal said, and Mr. Hoover will appear in each of them.

Reports on B. E. F. Requested by Hines

Hoke Smith, Leader, Issues Call to All Posts of Organization.

(Associated Press.)

Hoke Smith, field commander of the Bonus Expeditionary Force, issued a call yesterday to all posts and camps in the organization to send a complete report on these subdivisions to "field headquarters" in Uniontown, Pa.

The data, Smith said, was requested by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans' Administration. Smith discussed veterans' relief with Hines Thursday after he and several other members of the B. E. F. called on President Hoover at the White House.

Smith planned to leave for Uniontown shortly.

Striking Farmers Get Aid of Minnesota Idle

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14 (A.P.). Cooperation of urban unemployed with striking farmers was started today in picketing highways into Minneapolis. Forty members of the National Civic Rights Association, an organization of unemployed, were at an important intersection near Minneapolis, stopping trucks and urging drivers not to market farm products.

Patrick McGovern, of Minneapolis, an officer of the association, said it was formed here five months ago among the unemployed to further their welfare Organization is under way in other States, he said.

PAYMENT ON DEBTS ON TIME EXPECTED

would, effective last July 1, credit annual debt payments to an amount which would be governed by increases in the value of goods bought from the United States compared with the value of such goods bought in the year ended last June 30. A scale of percentages is contemplated under this plan whereby the largest percentage of credit would be allowed for agricultural purchases. Next in the percentage of credit allowed would be natural resource commodities, such as lumber. Commodities would be graded down in a descending scale so that for instance England—for which the plan is especially intended—would be protected against importation of American manufactured products, textiles and the like, but would have an incentive to buy from America foodstuffs and other raw materials which she now purchases elsewhere or does not buy at all because of the pressure of the war debts.

The plan is here simplified for clarity. Actually it is subject to many variations.

If Mr. Hoover fails of reelection, the matter will be allowed to drift, it is said, until the new administration comes in. If he is reelected, informal discussion of the matter will begin immediately among those attending the preliminary meeting of the world economic conference organization committee. President Hoover's hope if reelected is to see this conference become the most momentous event since the Treaty of Versailles. His plan is to send two Cabinet ministers to it, probably the Secretaries of State and Treasury.

Two purposes motivate the administration. One is a belief that the debt settlement with Great Britain is inequitable in the light of changed conditions. The British debt was refunded roughly on the basis of 80 cents on the dollar, France's on the basis of 50 cents, and Italy's on the basis of 25 cents. Great Britain, according to administration authorities, can not be expected to carry on her program indefinitely. She is making a heroic effort to meet the December 15 payment, the first since the expiration of the Hoover moratorium. Britain feels this is essential for the sake of her international credit. There is one possibility of an extension of the moratorium, but the probability of it can not be estimated until after election. The pressure for this would come not so much because of the allied principals, but because of the situation within Germany and Austria. It was this situation which forced the original moratorium.

LUTHERAN PENSION INQUIRY IS SOUGHT

Lay Delegate Asks Quiz on Mortgages Listed in Relief Fund Report.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A motion for investigation of the treasurer's report on the ministerial pensions and relief fund of the United Lutheran Church in America was made before the biennial convention of that body late today by State Senator Elwood M. Rabenold, of New York.

"I am not pursuing any inquisition," said Senator Rabenold, "but there are some things in this report that compel us to take notice of it."

He called attention to 5½ printed pages of mortgages listed as being owned by the pensions fund board. The majority of the properties involved, Rabenold said, adjoined one another on the same streets or on adjacent streets of the same section of Philadelphia.

He declared that the money being spent by the board to defray foreclosure costs of real estate acquired by the board, for taxes, repairs and other expenses involved totaled more than $60,000. This money, he told the delegates, would have enabled the board to pay its disabled ministers and their dependents $600 a year instead of $400.

Railroad Leases Assailed in Court

New York Central Group Holds I. C. C. Approved Pacts Illegal.

(Associated Press.)

An attack on leases of the Big Four and Michigan Central by the New York Central was made yesterday in the Supreme Court by the New York Central Securities Corporation in behalf of itself and other minority stockholders.

Although the leases were approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Frederick A. Henry, as counsel for the minority stockholders, insisted they were illegal and should be canceled.

He contended the leases were not returning to the stockholders as much as they would have received through dividends on their stock. Henry told the court the net earnings of the Big Four and Michigan Central going to the New York Central under the leases were almost double the amount of rental paid by the New York Central. He insisted this disclosed that the rentals were inadequate and unfair and demanded the minority stockholders should get more benefit from the increase in the earnings.

Rates on Live Stock Held Not Too High

Western Carriers Request I. C. C. to Maintain or Increase Them.

(Associated Press.)

Western railroads yesterday urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to keep freight rates on live stock at the present level or to increase them.

Attorneys for the carriers, arguing before the full commission, all asserted the railroads could not afford to haul live stock for any less than the present rates and some of them urged an increase.

The commission at the conclusion of the arguments took under consideration the pending question of revising rates throughout Western trunk line territory. The case originally was decided more than a year ago but when the United States Supreme Court held that the revision of grain freight rates was illegal because the commission had not considered changed conditions the live stock case was reopened.

Mrs. Gann Says Women Will Reelect President

Kansas City, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Dolly Gann, sister of Vice President Charles Curtis, looks to the women of the United States to reelect President Hoover.

"Women are coming forward with a rush for safety. It is like a tidal wave, and it will sweep Herbert Hoover back into the White House," she asserted. Mrs. Gann was here today on her campaign tour for the Republican national committee.

STATE DEPARTMENT ASSAILED AS INSULL CLINGS TO PASSPORT

by its authority I can stay out of America in any country I choose.

"Since the passport is issued by the country of which I am a citizen, its withdrawal is impossible, especially while I am traveling through foreign countries.

"Because a genuine citizen is transformed by his own country, against every sense of its obligation, into a scamp who can neither stay anywhere nor go anywhere, withdrawal of a passport is equivalent to withdrawal of citizenship. Therefore it is unnecessary for me to add that I can not recognize your right to cancel my citizenship by surrendering to you my passport before its expiration."

Denying reports that he had ordered Mr. Insull to leave Greece, the minister of interior said that, on the contrary, he had authorized the Chicagoan to remain here.

There was considerable speculation in Athens about the status of the Greco-American extradition treaty. Formal instruments of ratification of that treaty have not been exchanged by the two governments. It appeared that even if these instruments could be exchanged immediately there would be legal difficulties which might prevent making the treaty retroactive to cover the Insull case.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Andrew Vlachos and Charles A. Bellows, assistant State's attorneys, left for Athens today by way of Washington, New York and Italy to seek custody of Samuel Insull.

Departing on the Capitol Limited for Washington at 1:45 p. m., they bore depositions supporting the indictments charging Samuel and his brother, Martin, jointly with larceny and embezzlement of the funds of their utility investment companies.

Federal court examination of Chicago bankers in the quest for assets of the defunct investment concerns was continued today until November 1. Several of the bankers were absent from the city.

ROOSEVELT'S STAND ON SOVIETS SOUGHT

Rev. Edmund A. Walsh Says Recognition Should Be Withheld.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Oct. 14.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as Democratic candidate for President, owes it to "his constitutents and many admirers to take definite stand, before the election, on the question of recognition of Soviet Russia," the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and writer on Soviet subjects, declared today in an address at a luncheon meeting of the committee on Russian affairs of the National Civic Federation at the Lawyers Club, 115 Broadway.

Pointing out that President Hoover is on record as an opponent of recognition, Father Walsh referred to Gov. Roosevelt's recent statement that "he could not spare the time for study of it at present," and said that if the governor is hazy on the subject, "he is probably the only intelligent male of voting age in the United States remainipg in that condition of bucolic innocence."

Following Father Walsh's talk and addresses by Chester Wright, of Washington, editor of the International Labor News Service, and F. E. Downes, engineer, formerly in the employ of the Soviet, the federation unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon the successful candidate for President to withhold Soviet recognition until "that regime shall have given adequate security that it will not interfere, either directly or indirectly, in the domestic affairs of the United States and that the Third Internationale shall be dissolved."

Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and acting president of the Civic Federation, presided. About 75 members were present.

Early in his address Father Walsh declared that heavy pressure was being brought to bear upon both presidential candidates to take a favorable stand toward recognition, the movement being pushed by business houses, engineers and others. Behind the movement, he said, is the Soviet, which is in desperate financial straits and hard put to bolster up credit for its five-year plan.

"Food conditions are again serious in Russia, too," the priest went on. "The crisis at present is more serious than for many years. There is a relation between that and the scurrying between Moscow and Washington at this time."

G. W. Law Alumni Attend Luncheon

University's Progress Is Traced Before Bar Members.

Two hundred alumni of the George Washington University Law School, including graduates from all parts of the United States who are in Washington for the meeting of the American Bar Association, gathered at luncheon yesterday at the Cosmos Club, to hear of the progress of the university and its plans for the future from the president and the dean of the law school.

President Cloyd Heck Marvin traced for the alumni a picture of the institution of 112 years ago and contrasted it with the university as it is today, with 14,000 alumni, a faculty of 450, an enrollment of more than 8,000 students, and with property holdings worth $4,000,000 in the heart of the National Capital.

Refesring to future building plans, Dr. Marvin declared that the university will never undertake a building project at the expense of its staff of instruction. Dean William Cabell VanVleck reported upon the establishment of the George Washington University Law Review, which, he said, is one of the projects designed to vitalize instruction in the law school. Justice Wendell Phillips Stafford, professor emeritus of law, gave a word of greeting, being received with applause by his many former students present at the luncheon.

Hoover Dam Educational Facilities Are Deplored

Carson City, Nev., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Criticism of Federal authorities "for neglecting the education of children residing in the Hoover Dam reservation area" was voiced here today by Walter W. Anderson, State superintendent of public instruction.

"It seems," said Anderson in a report to the governor, "that the Federal authorities have been very liberal supplying swimming tanks, theaters, paved streets, water and fire protection for the project, though the education of children coming from all parts of the United States has been neglected."

BEVERLEY STRESSES CROWDING ON ISLE

Overpopulation Problem of Puerto Rico Is Cited in Report.

(Associated Press.)

The problem of overpopulation in Puerto Rico was stressed by Gov. James R. Beverley in his first annual report, made yesterday to the Secretary of War.

Citing that the last count showed 1,543,900 persons there, or 449 to the square mile, he said conditions show this "is too large for an area which is and must always remain agricultural."

The population growth is accelerating there.

"Organization of agriculture, encouragement of industries and vocational training," Beverley went on, "can all help to alleviate the situation, but they will never be sufficient to raise the average standard of living to a satisfactory point with the present density of population and in the present state of technical and agricultural development."

As to remedies, he said "a number of partial solutions have been advocated," continuing:

"Up to the present the Government has given attention to the encouragement of new industries and expansion of established ones, but it seems clear that it is rapidly becoming necessary to attempt other and further solutions.

"Without some extraordinary and unexpected changes in economic conditions, further net additions to population in the islands must inevitably result in greater distress and poverty and ultimately in a rising death rate."

Catholic Students To Hold Fall Rally

Mission Crusade Will Meet in Crypt of National Shrine Tomorrow.

Two thousand members of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock for their third annual fall rally in the crypt of the National Shrine at the Catholic University.

The Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate, will preside at the solemn benediction and confer the Paladin medals on the members of the crusade for outstanding achievement during the last year. The sermon will be delivered by the Right Rev. Mgr. William D. O'Brien, president of the Church Extension Society of Chicago.

The Catholic Students Mission Crusade is a pontificial society that is comprised of Catholic students of America. Its primary purpose is to promote missionary interest through mission education. The cadets of St. John's College will form the military escort for the procession as it passes through the university grounds before it enters the National Shrine.

NOTED EUROPEANS ADDRESS MEETING OF BAR ASSOCIATION

allel. Whatever may have happened in the past and however harrowing descriptions may be of sufferings after wars of which you and we have had experience, never has the economic world been so distressed. The world's hope lies for the present in economic conferences and in measures that may be there devised."

He urged that the American bar and British lawyers cooperate in forwarding British-American ideals and "lend assistance by our united efforts to secure peace among the nations of the world."

M. Reynaud, in his address, expounded the philosophy of Benjamin Franklin: "If we do not hang together, we will hang separately."

Isolation Policy Rapped.

He assailed the policy of isolation, pointing out its economic unwisdom.

"What would become of Europe if she had to stop exporting her manufactured products to the markets of the world?" he asked. "What would become of America, which exports more than half of her production of cotton?

"Would the farmers of the South abandon the cultivation of half of their lands? And what about the 41 per cent export of tobacco, the 36 per cent of copper, the 41 per cent of typewriters, the 50 per cent of agricultural machinery, the 18 per cent of wheat? What would mean for American economy the impoverishment of all these producers?"

Mr. Martin, elected to succeed Guy A. Thompson as president of the association, takes pride in the appellation "country lawyer." A native of Martinsburg, he has practiced there since his admission to the bar in 1901. He has served on numerous commissions to clarify statutes and has served on the board of trustees of Catholic University, where he received his degree of LL.M. in 1901.

Banquet Will Be Tonight.

Dean Wigmore, who was honored yesterday afternoon with the association's medal, is the author of "Wigmore's Evidence" and other well-known works on jurisprudence.

Ten vice presidents, replacing the 48 elected in past years, were chosen yesterday, and four new members were elected to the executive committee.

Following Lord Reading's address last night, delegates viewed the George Washington Bicentennial art exhibit at the Corcoran Art Gallery. Tonight at their annual dinner at the Mayflower they will hear Owen D. Young, of New York; Owen J. Roberts, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court; Frank J. Hogan, president of the District bar, and the incoming president.

Walter H. Eckert, chairman of the association's publicity committee, last night asked The Post to publish the following statement:

"The lawyers' volunteer committee which drafted a report branding President Hoover's solution of the liquor question 'unconstitutional' is not a committee of the American Bar Association and has no connection with it."

Letters come to the desk of the Food Editors expressing the gratitude of readers for the recipes sent in by homemakers interested in this page.

A note constantly struck in these letters is to the effect that these recipes invariably "work," due to the fact, perhaps, that the senders have tried them out themselves before submitting them for the use of other housewives.

FLOWER RING SALAD.
(Honorable Mention.)

A refreshing salad for hot days may be made easily with the following ingredients:

Lettuce hearts
Hellman's mayonnaise (Sanitary Stores)
1 package of lime jello (Sanitary Stores)
1 cup boiling water
1 cup ice water
½ cup Dole pineapple (cut fine) (Sanitary Stores)
4 whole fresh figs (canned)
8 raisins
8 peeled apricots

Cut with scissors the outer edge of the apricots ricrac fashion and place a raisin firmly in the center of each apricot. They will resemble flowers. Put one face down in a ring mold and stand one against the side by placing a fig behind it. Alternate in this manner until the eight flowers have been used. Scatter pineapple over the whole.

Dissolve jello in one cup boiling water. Add ice water. Stir well and pour over the fruit. Chill until firm. Unmold (by dipping mold gently in warm watter) on large, round platter. Place mayonnaise in the center and lettuce around the outside of the ring.

Individual molds may be used if preferred.

MRS. C. A. REPLOGLE.
701 Erie avenue, Takoma Park, Md.

ROSE SALAD.
(Honorable Mention.)

Select medium size, firm tomatoes. Peel and scoop out at stem end. Fill with chopped cucumbers, celery and a little of the scooped-out tomato. If preferred, fill tomatoes with chicken salad and top filling with mayonnaise and a little paprika.

Make into a smooth paste 1½ Philadelphia cream cheese, using ½ teaspoon lemon juice and 2 tablespoons milk or cream; add a pinch of salt. Color this with Bee brand vegetable coloring, according to color scheme desired. The remaining ½ cream cheese, smooth as above, and color green.

Now that the tomatoes are peeled and stuffed, make the rose petals of the cream cheese by using a level teaspoonful for each petal. Form the petals by placing each spoonful on the tomato in even rows and drawing the teaspoon in a downward movement, leaving a perfect rose petal. Use the green cream cheese for the bottom or last row of petals. This quantity of cheese will make 6 roses. Place this on shredded lettuce, chill and serve with flake butter crackers. All ingredients for above may be purchased from any Sanitary, District or A. & P. grocery store.

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

The scarlet of maple leaves and the red-bronze of oak leaves, so much a part of October, have been captured in bunches for taking-home purposes. They sell for 15 cents a bunch, or less, at the entrance of one of Washington's large markets, centrally located. The autumn leaves, together with the brilliance of late garden flowers, also for sale in bouquets, give the new season its properly festive touch at this busy food-selling place.

Another October scene that may or may not be decorated with vivid leaves or bouquets of flowers, is a scene nearly every homemaker knows about. It includes big aprons—they might even be blue-checked aprons—and the smell of fruit cooking, or odors from spicy vegetable concoctions—and rows of jelly glasses and preserving jars. Washington's food merchants have carefully considered the preserving season now with us and have arranged their wares and the prices thereof to appeal to the housewife who is absorbed in her annual preserving adventures.

Nearly every shade of red, green and yellow, with dashes of purple for full measure of color, were in the display of fruits and vegetables arranged to catch the eye of the preserving-minded shopper in a chain store across from a busy general market. So effective was the arrangement that many questions were asked about the numerous foods in the display in the comparatively short time the Meanderer hung about, learning what she could of such values.

Sales were rapid in this corner of the store, as they should be, because green tomatoes for preserving sold there for 39 cents a half bushel; crab apples at 4 pounds for 19 cents; red or green peppers, 10 cents a dozen; onions, 4 pounds for 19 cents; damson plums, 35 cents a basket, or 5 cents a pound; Bartlett pears, 4 pounds for 15 cents; seckel pears, 4 pounds for 19 cents; quinces, 5 pounds for 19 cents, and half-ripe tomatoes, 10 pounds for 25 cents.

Right in the midst of preserving matters, a new fruit pectin is interesting housewives. A 12-ounce bottle sells for 19 cents, a lower price for such a product than the Meanderer has ever found before. So the sure-fire method of making jellies by using the commercial pectin need not add so much as heretofore to the cost of the finished jelly.

The housewife who is employed much of her time in other places than the kitchen—in offices, at community work or in a gay social round or at fall sewing—will like to know about the home-made jellies, preserves and marmalades for sale at an outdoor stand adjoining a big central market. Some of the bright, neat rows of jars the Meanderer saw there cost as little as 10 cents each, and contained raspberry, currant, gooseberry, plum and foxgrape jelly. Honey was selling there, too. A small package of honey for 10 cents, sufficient for three generous servings, is labeled "Honey Hunks."

Yellow tomatoes for 65 cents a half-bushel are an interesting value in a fruit and vegetable stand near a busy corner in Southwest Washington. Red tomatoes are there, too, for only 40 cents a half-bushel. Preserving quinces are $1.50 a bushel in this market. Small, but good-quality, oranges and lemons sell at this stand for as little as 20 cents a dozen.

Shrimps of extra good quality sell for 25 cents a pound in one fish shop in Southwest Washington. They are much larger than those which sold for the same price some weeks ago. The task of preparing shrimps may be avoided by buying the ready-cooked ones at 45 cents a pound, in the same well-known market.

All steak cuts sold for the surprisingly low price of 19 cents a pound in one general market the Meanderer visited in downtown Washington.

Cranberries for early fall use are selling at the low price of two pounds for a quarter in one chain store.

Celery cabbage at 5 cents a pound, and broccoli only slightly higher, is a suggestion for the housewife who would put variety into her menus.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

Timely Tested Recipes.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Cranberry Relish.

1 pound cranberries
1 orange
1 cup sugar or strained honey
¼ teaspoon salt

Pick over the cranberries and discard any soft or specked ones. Wash the berries and drain. Wash the orange, cut in quarters, and remove the seeds. Grind the berries and orange, rind and all, through the food chopper, using the fine knife. Add the sugar or honey and the salt. Serve with roast meat or poultry. Stored in a tight jar in a cold place this relish will keep for two or three weeks.

Currant Jelly.

Select firm, not overripe fruit, wash it thoroughly, and remove the leaves but not the stems. Crush the fruit to start the juice and then heat it quickly without adding water. Cook and stir constantly from 5 to 8 minutes, or until the skins of the fruit are white. Strain through several thicknesses of cheesecloth. Do not squeeze the bag, but press lightly to start the flow of juice as it cools. Never make up more than 4 to 6 cups of juice at one time. To each cup of currant juice add 1 cup of sugar. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then bring quickly to the boiling point in a pan large enough to allow the juice to boil rapidly. Currants have so much pectin that as a rule just boiling up once will give the jelly test; that is, the juice will sheet from the spoon.

Remove the juice from the fire as soon as the jelly test is reached, let stand for a minute or two, and remove the scum. Pour the jelly into hot sterilized glasses, cover with cheesecloth, and let stand until set. When cold, cover the melted paraffin and rotate so that a rim of the paraffin reaches the top of the glass. Cover with lids, label, and store in a cool place.

Gooseberry Jam.

4 pounds gooseberries
4 pounds sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Remove the stems, of the "tops and tails," from the gooseberries. Wash the berries, crush and cook until fairly tender. Add the sugar and salt and continue cooking until thick. If the berries are ripe and not too acid, three-fourths as much sugar as fruit can be used. Pour into hot sterilized glasses or jars and seal, label, and store in a cool place.

Sand Tarts.

½ cup butter
¾ cup light brown sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
Halved almonds or pecans

Cream together the butter and brown sugar, and add the well-beaten egg. Sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt, and add to the first mixture. On a lightly floured board make a roll of the dough about 3 inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and let stand for several hours or overnight in a cold place. In the morning slice wafer thin with a sharp knife, and sprinkle with a mixture of the cinnamon and granulated sugar. Press a nut in the center of each cookie. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned. Store in air-tight containers.

Scotch Wafers.

2 cups rolled oats
1 cup sifted flour
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons fat
1-3 cup milk

Mix the dry ingredients, add the fat, and mix together thoroughly. Add enough milk to make a dough sufficiently hard to roll (about one-third of a cup). Knead this dough well, roll very thin, and cut with a biscuit cutter. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes. When cool the wafers should be very crisp.

Vanilla Wafers.

2-3 cup butter.
½ cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1¼ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla

Cream the butter and sugar, add the well-beaten egg, the milk and the sifted dry ingredients, then the vanilla. Drop by one-half teaspoons on a lightly greased baking sheet, allowing room to spread. Bake in a moderate oven (about 350 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes, or until the edges are golden brown.

Savory Cooked Lettuce.

6 slices bacon
3 quarts shredded lettuce
2 tablespoons vinegar
Salt
Onion juice

Cook the bacon in a heavy skillet until brown and crisp, and remove it from the fat. Add the shredded lettuce to the hot fat and stir until it wilts. Add the vinegar and bacon broken in small pieces, salt 1. needed, and onion juice if desired. Serve at once.

OUR DAILY FOOD

By COLONEL GOODBODY

THAT FLAVOR OF COFFEE.

I'VE always thought "coffee tasting" would be an excellent profession, as I'm something of a coffee devotee myself.

Recently I went down into the Coffee Exchange Building to watch these coffee tasters at work with their "cup test."

The testing is done in a room furnished with two big revolving tables and a brass stove with brass kettles steaming on it all day long. When it's time to taste the coffee, about twenty cups—all numbered—are put out on one of these revolving tables. The same quantity of coffee—freshly roasted and freshly ground—is put in each cup. Then hot water is added, and the coffee is ready.

Then after these men have smelled the coffee, they taste it—all the different blends that are needed to please the tastes of different people.

The coffee experts see to it that we get our favorite beverage in top form. After that, it's up to those of us who brew the cup.

And here are two of my latest coffee recipes—recipes which I broadcast on my morning radio program, Our Daily Food:

Iced Oriental Coffee.

2 cups milk
3 inch pieces of stick cinnamon
10 whole cloves
2 cups strong coffee
¼ cup sugar
½ cup cream

Scald the milk with the cinnamon and cloves. Strain, and add the freshly made hot coffee and the sugar. Cool, add the cream and serve with crushed ice.

Mocha Souffle.

2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup strong coffee
Pinch salt
3 eggs
1-3 cup sugar

Melt the butter, blend the flour with it and add the coffee gradually. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add the egg yolks which have been beaten with the sugar and salt, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Pour into a buttered baking dish, set the dish in a pan of water and bake for 45 or 50 minutes, or until the souffle is firm. Serve immediately with plain or with whipped cream. This recipe serves five or six persons.

BRIEF ILLNESS FATAL TO MRS. TURNER, 89

Confederate Officer's Widow Active in Literary and Civic Circles.

Mrs. Harriot Stoddert Turner died yesterday at her home, 1311 New Hampshire avenue, after a brief illness. Mrs. Turner, 89, was intimately associated with civic and literary activities in Washington, Richmond and St. Louis. She was the widow of Capt. Thomas Turner, a Confederate officer.

Mrs. Turner was a girl in Richmond during the Civil War. Her recollections of that period have been preserved in stories. Her "Memories of Andrew Johnson" were published in Harper's Magazine in 1910. She was a member of the District Society of Colonial Dames and a president of the District Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

Seven of Mrs. Turner's nine children survive her. The eldest, Lizinka Turner, died three years ago in Funchal, Madeira. Her first son, Henry Smith Turner, died a year ago in St. Louis. Those who still live here and abroad are Mrs. Kingsbury Waterman, now residing in Paris; Mrs. Horton Pope, of Denver; Mrs. Hedley V. Cooke, Mrs. George E. Pflaster, Mrs. Lee Benoist and Maj. Campbell Turner, of Washington, and Sister St. Mary Edith, of the Congregation de Notre Dame, of Lewiston, Me. Two granddaughters, Mrs. George Y. Worthington, jr., and Mrs. Henry Ravenel, are also residents of Washington.

Funeral services will be held at her home at 8 o'clock tonight. Interment will be in Nashville, Tenn.

ROOSEVELT ON RELIEF.

Gov. Roosevelt's relief policy is almost identical with the program which is now in operation under the administration of President Hoover. The Democratic candidate favors self-liquidating projects to relieve unemployment; he advocates Federal relief only when private, local and State agencies are unable to meet the demands upon them; and he removes unemployment insurance from national politics by advocating State legislation on that subject. His indorsement of the policies that have been laid down by President Hoover in meeting this emergency serves to strengthen public confidence in those measures.

Obviously, Gov. Roosevelt is still trying to overcome the impressions of radicalism that were gleaned from his speeches before he received the nomination. He is having a struggle to keep from becoming identified with the radicalism pressed upon him by the outer fringe of the Democratic party and the Republican renegades who have been taken into the Roosevelt organization. But so far as his speeches are a criterion, he has avoided commitment to the radical elements.

The strangest thing in Gov. Roosevelt's Albany broadcast is his criticism of the Hoover administration for following the policy which the governor himself advocates. "The primary duty rests on the community, through local government and private agencies," Gov. Roosevelt said, "to take care of the relief of unemployment". In accordance with that policy President Hoover mobilized private and community efforts during both the winters of 1930 and 1931. All these relief activities were coordinated and assisted by a national organization directed from Washington.

When it became apparent last spring that some of the States needed assistance in carrying on relief work, loans aggregating $300,000,000 were provided through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Gov. Roosevelt admits that the States should take over the burden of supplying relief and should call upon Uncle Sam only when they are unable to cope with the situation. His own State had no general relief program until 1931. Yet he criticizes the administration for asking the States to work out their own problems until they are definitely in need of outside help.

Without specifically indorsing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Gov. Roosevelt approves one large section of its work. He definitely favors self-liquidating projects for unemployment relief, rather than public works which increase the burden of taxes. That is the principle for which President Hoover fought last spring when he vetoed the Garner bill, carrying an appropriation of $1,300,000,000 for unnecessary post offices and other Federal buildings. It must have taken courage for Gov. Roosevelt to agree with Mr. Hoover, which is equivalent to repudiation of the Garner program.

This repudiation of the Garner bill is significant. Gov. Roosevelt has not indorsed the reckless legislation attempted by the Democratic House of Representatives last spring. Many parts of that program he has repudiated. As a result, the wide gap between the views of Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic leaders who have control of the House comes into bold relief. There can be no question that on these questions the public stands with Gov. Roosevelt and against Mr. Garner.

DEMOCRAT ASKS EMBARGO.

It would be a miracle indeed if the Democratic party could get through a campaign without being openly embarrassed by its tariff policy. Even while Gov. Roosevelt and his faithful followers are demanding lower industrial duties "to restore foreign trade," two of the foremost leaders in the Roosevelt movement find it necessary to demand more protection for an industry within their State. The wide gulf between Democratic theory and practice on the tariff has never been better illustrated.

The $100,000,000 American rubber footwear industry is fighting for its life. Japan and Czechoslovakia are selling this type of shoes to American retailers for as little as 14 cents per pair. It costs 29 cents per pair to manufacture the same type and grade of shoes in the United States. The American industry is seeking temporary relief through the anti-dumping laws, and permanent relief through a higher tariff. The existing 35 per cent duty does not bring the price of the imported shoes to half of the American cost of production.

Senator Marcus A. Coolidge, of Massachusetts, an ardent supporter of Gov. Roosevelt, has taken note of the desperate situation confronting the rubber footwear industry in his State. He wired the Treasury Department as follows:

> I am advised that importations of Czechoslovakian and Japanese canvas and rubber footwear seriously affects employment of several hundred employes in the Converse Rubber Co. in Massachusetts. I am deeply interested, as I know you are, in preventing further unemployment in the country. I earnestly request serious consideration of this matter and sincerely trust that further importations of all foreign goods affecting American labor will be prevented.

Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, another stalwart in the Roosevelt organization, merely expressed his interest in "stoppage" of these importations and asked "every consideration" for this industry of his home State.

No Republican tariff act has ever gone so far as to prevent "importations of all foreign goods affecting American labor." The Democratic Mr. Coolidge is far more sweeping than the Republican Mr. Coolidge in his demands for tariff protection in this critical period. He does not even limit the requested benefits to the workingmen of his home State, as most Democratic senators do. His demand is for a general embargo on all the product of cheap labor.

It is encouraging to find some Democrats who take note of the desperate situation confronting American workingmen by reason of competition with foreigners earning as little as 2 cents per hour. But Gov. Roosevelt completely ignores this fact, and continues to demand lower tariffs. What will the unemployed of Massachusetts say when the two Democratic senators of that State, who recognize the dangers confronting American labor from pauper competition abroad, continue their efforts in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt and the Democratic plank, advocating a "competitive tariff?"

PARTY HONOR.

Senator Hiram Johnson, in advising California editors that he will not support Mr. Hoover, says:

> The Republican party is not at stake in this campaign.

Senator Johnson lists himself in the Congressional Directory as a Republican. He holds the chairmanship of the committee on commerce and membership on other important committees, including that of foreign relations, by virtue of Republican votes.

The Republican party is not only at stake in this campaign, but Republican control of Senate committee assignments. Democratic gains indicate that the Senate will be reorganized, with Democrats holding chairmanships. But whether there is to be a Democratic or Republican majority in the Senate, is is inconceivable that regular Republicans will permit bolters to hold committee places under the pretense that they are Republicans.

When a man deserts his party and then clings to that party's honors under false pretenses, not having the decency to withdraw, the party must kick him out or suffer disintegration.

The public has some rights, also. When the people elect Democrats or Republicans to execute their will they are entitled to faithful performance. If a man should be elected President as a Democrat, for example, and then should repudiate his party, his conduct would be regarded as dishonorable.

SANE PEACE MOVE.

Following several weeks of bristling belligerency over a minor border difference, Colombia and Peru have adopted the sensible and highly commendable course of endeavoring to effect a peaceful solution of their dispute through direct negotiation. Three representatives of the Bogota government have arrived in Lima for a conference with President Sanchez Cerro over the occupation of the Colombian town of Leticia, on the upper reaches of the Amazon River.

In the last boundary settlement between the two nations the little port of Leticia was awarded to Colombia and has since been considered without question as belonging to that republic. When word came that Peruvians had "captured" the town Colombians flamed with resentment, citizens paraded the streets demanding war on Peru for its recapture, a defense fund of $10,000,000 was quickly subscribed, and the preliminary offers of Peru for peaceful negotiation were rejected.

Such action had its natural repercussion among the Peruvians who, with equal enthusiasm, began active preparations for war. Finally, as patriotic fervor abated somewhat, the circumstances of the Leticia incident were viewed more calmly and it became apparent that the occupation of the town had not been made either by Peruvian military forces or by government orders, but was apparently the irresponsible act of radical Peruvians. Following such advices it finally became possible to arrange an international conference, and it is to be hoped that with direct contacts a neighborly settlement may be effected that will preserve good feeling and the territorial rights of both nations.

Simultaneously with this good news comes reports of another border clash between military groups of Peru and Ecuador. Here again, upon receipt of the first meager reports of a brush between border guards, belligerent threats were immediately heard. It would seem that some allowance might be made for the tedium of border patrol in a tropical wilderness, and less importance attached to petty quarrels between small detachments on trying duty, at least until investigation of the seriousness of the altercation can be determined. The disposition to fly to arms for the vindication of national honor over petty differences may arouse such intense feeling as to make a conflict inevitable. The good example now set by Colombia and Peru is all the more commendable because of the fact that negotiations are agreed upon after national passions had been stirred almost to the breaking point.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS BOLT.

A revolt in Speaker Garner's home State of Texas furnishes an interesting sidelight on the national political show. "Ma" Ferguson has won the right to have her name on the ballot as the nominee of the Democratic party, but she has lost the support of Gov. Sterling and that powerful group of Democrats who in 1928 swung Texas into the Republican column for President Hoover.

The feud between Mrs. Ferguson and Gov. Sterling goes deeper than party lines. In a fight of unusual bitterness Mrs. Ferguson won the nomination by 4,000 votes. Gov. Sterling tried to have the nomination set aside on the ground of fraud, but his suit has been dismissed by the Texas courts. He has only one recourse to prevent the election of "Ma" Ferguson and the domination of Texas by "Pa" Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from the governorship in 1917. That one chance is the election of Orville Bullington, the Republican nominee.

Gov. Sterling has not said definitely that he will support Mr. Bullington, but he says he would "consider it an act of positive dishonor" to cast his vote for a Ferguson regime. His open repudiation of the Democratic nominee followed an announcement by the League of Anti-Ferguson Democrats that it would support the Republican nominee. Leaders of this group are given credit for the Republican victory in Texas four years ago. It is assumed that Gov. Sterling will use his influence along with this group to defeat the Ferguson pair.

Probably this revolt will have no far-reaching effect upon the fortunes of Texas' favorite son, who aspires to be elected both Speaker of the House and Vice President, but it may give Texas a Republican governor. Since the Democratic votes in the run-off primary were almost equally divided between Mrs. Ferguson and Gov. Sterling, his following could easily throw the election to Mr. Bullington. It remains to be seen whether the Ferguson feud runs deeper than party allegiance among the rank and file of voters.

Hi Johnson says the Republican party is "not at stake" in this campaign, but Gov. Roosevelt does not agree with him.

WHITE HOUSE PETS

From the Pathfinder.

White House pets have always been varied and numerous. The Roosevelt boys had their pony, the marks of whose hoofs can still be seen on one of the polished floors of the executive mansion. Always playing pranks, they rode it inside one day, to the great astonishment of attendants. Then there was the luckless but pampered one-legged rooster that the Roosevelt youngsters adopted. Many artificial legs were contrived for this bird, but he seems to have done better by hopping around on his one good one.

The Taft household had a useful pet in Pauline, a docile cow that used to browse about the spacious lawns at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue without being conscious of the unusual privilege conferred upon her. During the Wilson administration a herd of pedigreed sheep cropped the White House lawn. When Harding moved in the sheep were relegated to a Maryland farm and their place was taken by Laddie Boy, airedale favorite of both President and Mrs. Harding. One Christmas Mr. Harding tried to make a pet of a turkey that had been sent him by an admirer, but soon gave it up as a bad job.

The Coolidges had about the best collection of pets that the executive mansion ever saw assembled at one time. They showed a partiality for white collies. Peter Pan nipped the heels of workers and was banished. Rob Roy was the constant companion of "Silent Cal," while Prudence Prim was Mrs. Coolidge's favorite. Rob Roy used to sample sandwiches laid out for tea. Mrs. Coolidge even made a little hat for her favorite, which the dog wore at private garden fetes. Both collies died soon after the Coolidges' Black Hills vacation. Paul Pry, an airedale, was another favorite until he started to pull expensive blue room upholstering to pieces.

President Hoover early showed a preference for King Tut, a police dog, but the latter never became acclimated to the place and died. Among other dogs presented the Hoovers were Padrick, an Irish wolfhound; Inglehurst Gillette, a prize-winning Gordon setter; Marks, an English setter; Big Ben and Sonny, wire-haired fox terriers; Glen, a Scotch collie; two hound puppies, which Mr. Hoover sent to his Rapidan fishing camp, and Yukon, an Eskimo dog that so pined for the cold country that the President sent him back North.

POST HASTE.

Japan charges that a professor wrote the Lytton report. Doesn't Tokyo know that even presidential candidates employ a "brains department" these days?

Gov. Roosevelt says that when States have exhausted their resources for relief the Federal Government must aid. A little late, but at last he lines up with action already taken by Congress and the administration.

"I believe in political parties—sometimes," says Senator Borah. Especially when the Senate is being organized.

Speaker Garner tried to start a back-fire against the scorching criticism of the Democratic congressional record. He begs the question by defending the measures passed, which no one attacks, and glosses over the ruinous House bills from which the country was saved.

Fortunately for Albie Booth, little quarter back, who is to oppose the heavyweight, Gene Tunney, on the Connecticut stump, it is only the first three inches under the hat which will count at the weigh-in.

The Bar Association didn't exactly declare for a sales tax, but would a judge have allowed them to intimate as much to a jury as they did to Congress?

The fact that the value of building permits rose 10 per cent last month, the first increase since November, 1930, must indicate something.

The indications are that more Americans are realizing every day what it would mean to ditch the present program of reconstruction and recovery and begin again some time next year to build up from a lower level.

From the speech of the chairman of the House judiciary committee, the Summers of our discontent, to the Bar Association, it appears this poor old U. S. A. is hardly worth saving.

You can't conceal anything from that wonderful organization, the Associated Press. It discovered that Senator Borah made a speech at Buhl against "devastating" public extravagance. If the senator had been in politics recently he would know that all parties demand economy.

In every speech Gov. Roosevelt proposes undisputed beneficial measures "for the long run," but completely ignores the short hop to problems that are here and now.

A curious item coming from California as though it were a matter of news says Senator Johnson will not support President Hoover.

Chancellor von Papen advises Germans they can go ahead and elect a new Reichstag if they like, but it will not be permitted to function.

AUTUMN.

At early morning now the dew
Lies heavy on the rose's cheek.
The sky puts on a deeper blue.
The martin house for all the week
Has missed its tenants, and the hue
Of scarlet salvia's at its peak.

A golden ribbon seems to span
The elm tree's very lovely breast,
Upon a carpet edged with tan
Great clumps of yellow flowers are pressed,
Like an old rug from Turkestan
Some long dead monarch once possessed.

As beautiful and calm as age
Which nothing further seems to fear
And has no more of war to wage.
Or use for battered shield and spear;
Too wise at last for petty rage
Is this, the autumn time of year.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE—When I was a young fellow working in print shops and newspaper offices in the West, I discovered that all editors of that era and region were divided into two classes.

One kind of editor, being sure of himself and unafraid, dealt gently and tolerantly with all mankind. The other, thinking himself inferior because of his poverty and being afraid of the world, continually berated and reviled the rich and the powerful.

This second type was afraid of seeming afraid. He had to pick quarrels to prove to himself that he wasn't cowed by his ill fortune.

Many people are like that—including girls.

Because they are too tall or too short, too fat or too lean, too poor or merely not pretty enough, they feel inferior to other people and their hearts are full of bitterness.

And they unwittingly confess their feeling of inferiority by acting hateful to conceal it.

The strong are the generous and the girl who is sure of herself is the one who is gracious and kind.

Once in a while you meet people who are puffed up by some trivial advantage and their assumption of superiority is so annoying that you are tempted to tell them a few things for the good of their souls.

But would you feel that way if you were a princess and fabulously rich? You would not. In that case their pretensions would merely amuse you.

Obviously, then, the thing for you to do is to become a princess.

That isn't as difficult as it sounds. When Bobby Burns wished to be in love with a girl he acted as though he were and soon found his feelings matching his conduct.

That's the way our natures work. Go through the motions often enough and your glands or something think it real and change you to match the reality.

Be as gracious and tolerant and unaffectedly kind as the princess would be and soon you find yourself actually being the fine creature you have been playing.

At your age, my dear, you are soft clay in your own hands. A little practice makes a habit, and the habit of acting fine makes you feel that way. Love, DAD.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Roosevelt Luck.

Houston Post.

They are saying Roosevelt seems to have been born under a lucky star. When has a Democratic candidate for the Presidency had such an unbroken run of good luck as the New York governor has enjoyed? They are asking that.

Yes, Roosevelt has been getting the "breaks." He has the advantage of a situation in which his opponent is the object of deep and widespread resentment among the people. The weakness of the opposition is a factor in the Roosevelt strength. We may as well admit that.

And then a succession of events seemed to be lucky developments for Roosevelt. Walker "busted" and resigned, and has been supplanted as Tammany favorite for Mayor of New York. Al Smith is back on the reservation, ready to whoop for the ticket. The Roosevelt-Smith choice for Democratic nominee for Governor of New York was nominated. Roosevelt seems to be having it all his way.

The California Senatorship.

The Argonaut.

There is already good reason to believe that Tubbs will get a considerable amount of the votes cast for Wardell, McCarthy and Abbott. They are wet. Then, too, McAdoo has bitterly antagonized influential Democratic leaders. The wounds have not healed. Revenge is sweet. The "knife" will undoubtedly be freely used in retaliation. These combined votes would give Tubbs a handsome plurality over Shuler and McAdoo. Shuler, with the votes he received on the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition tickets, which were greater than those of any other candidate, and the dry votes he may get from Shortridge and Crail, will fall behind Tubbs, but will lead McAdoo. McAdoo, with his own vote and all the votes he can fairly be expected to get from Wardell, McCarthy and Abbott will be in third place behind Shuler.

The results of the primaries show that the fight in November will be between Tubbs and Shuler.

The Battle Ground.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mark Sullivan makes an interesting political observation. His analysis of the campaign and reduction of its real proportions to four doubtful States challenges attention. Sullivan concedes the ten States of the solid South to Roosevelt. He concedes ten Eastern States to Hoover. Then he divides the trans-Mississippi West equally between the candidates and hands the border States, except West Virginia and Maryland, to the Democrats.

With his special flair for balance, Sullivan thus concedes each party 217 electoral votes. Either requires 49 more to win. The States left to be considered, Sullivan declares, are the battleground, and however one may disagree with the foregoing symmetrical arrangement, few will question the concentration of political energy in the Middle West. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin are the treacherous places where almost anything can happen. And to these the New York writer adds Maryland and West Virginia.

The Farmer in the Dell.

Minneapolis Journal.

Lowell J. Sherman, former head of both the National and New York State Granges, opines that Gov. Roosevelt "will not dare again to pose anywhere before farmers as a farmer, so general has been the laugh among farmers of New York State, who know that the governor is not a farmer, has had no farm program for his own State and has had only incidental connection with any legislation affecting agriculture in New York."

There is support for Mr. Sherman's view. Others may have noted that the Democratic campaign managers, putting out publicity for the Roosevelt cause, have been mighty careful to issue no photographs of the "Roosevelt farm," where their nominee professes to have been a farmer himself for nigh onto half a century.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Correspondent Puzzled by Question as to What Will Happen After Repeal.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It doesn't seem possible to get from any source any statement that would show the results of any of the plans suggested as substitutes for prohibition. There seems to be an agreement only that "the saloon must not come back." The New York idea seems to be that hotels, restaurants, &c., should be permitted to "serve" liquor. Most of the "hotels" and "restaurants" under this plan would soon become worse breeding places of vice and crime than the saloons ever were.

Another plan is to have the governments, State or Federal, distribute liquor. My information is that whisky (which is 90 per cent of the bootleg output) is sold by the Canadian government at something like $4 a quart. Does any person with common sense imagine that sales by our Government at anything like that price would drive bootleggers out of business? Why bootleg liquor can be sold at $1 a quart at a handsome profit and for half that if competition is brisk.

Thus we would have a system that would favor the well-to-do liquor buyers, while the poor man would continue to buy bootleg liquor. And what reason have we for believing that Government agents selling liquor would be less corruptible than are the prohibition agents? Who can say that if we do "repeal" prohibition that we will not bring about a situation much worse than the present one?

E. C. TAYLOR.

Reason Why Roosevelt Should Speak Out on Bonus Question.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Roosevelt has been repeatedly urged to give his stand on the bonus. It must not be thought that this request is mere political clap-trap. The welfare of America is involved.

If he is elected without any statement on his part of his position there is danger that our next Congress will pass the bonus. Then we will not get out of this fearful depression. It will deepen instead.

The explanation is simple. Our congressmen have always feared to refuse the veterans anything. Their fear will be intensified if Roosevelt is elected without having said how he stands on the bonus. It may be true, probably is, that he is opposed to it. It is certainly true that, if elected, it will not be because of the bonus. It may count little or nothing in the result. But that is not the way the representative is likely to look upon it. He will see that Hoover spoke strongly against the bonus and lost while Roosevelt said nothing and won. As a consequence, when the bonus measure is brought up in Congress he will scarcely dare vote against it.

The danger is acute. It is no partisan matter. The welfare of our country is too much at stake. Democrats and Republicans alike should insist that Roosevelt make an early public statement of his stand on the bonus. If he does not do so, he ought not to be elected. P. Z.

Cure for Crime Does Not Lie in Repeal of Law Punishing Crime. Bar Association Criticized.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: Your news columns represent the American Bar Association as having declared in a preliminary meeting yesterday that prohibition is the "fountain head of modern gang law and present-day crime." To say the least of it, this is an amazing statement to come from a group of lawyers. Maybe it will "hold liquor." It certainly will not hold water.

Conditions were intolerable long before prohibition came. That was why prohibition was put in the book. To take it out will not cure the evil. If the cure for bad conduct is the repeal of law, let's not stop at repealing the eighteenth amendment, but repeal all laws—wipe the slate clean—and start even into unrestricted piracy.

Every law enacted is designed to curb personal liberty because individuals are found who are taking their liberty as license and disturbing the proper order of society; and each new law added to the list adds also a new crop of violators.

W. B. WITHERSPOON.

Policemen Vigilant in Parking Matters, but Meantime Banks Are Robbed.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: The writer stopped about 30 seconds this morning abreast a line of parked cars to wait for a parked car to move out. He was abruptly ordered to move on by one of two policemen in a cruising police car. Not caring to argue the point, he drove around the block, followed by the police car, and found a parking place.

While this was going on a gang of thieves was robbing a bank of $25,000 in Woodbridge. Surely the police are playing safe when they spend their time following business men around to see that a parking regulation is not violated and leave citizens to protect themselves from thugs and racketeers. It seems to your subscriber that a change of front is in order.

Committee Organized to Obtain Old Age Pension Law for This District.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I was very much interested in Mrs. Jones' letter in The Post of October 3. I am sure she will be glad to know that we have organized a committee on old age pensions for the District of Columbia, the purpose of which is to work definitely for the passage of an old age pension bill for this District.

It would be a great pleasure to have Mrs. Jones or any of your other readers become members of this committee. MRS. RICHARD HOGUE.

EVENTS IN CAPITAL SOCIETY

President to Depart For Cleveland Today

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER will leave today for Cleveland, where the former will make a speech. They will return to the Capital tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr., attended the tea yesterday afternoon given at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Tompkins in honor of the women's division of the engineers' national Hoover committee.

Mrs. Hoover and the hostess, Mrs. Charles H. Tompkins, received the guests on the terrace overlooking the garden at Battery Terrill. Mrs. William De Witt Mitchell, Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin received with Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Tompkins.

The Tompkins home, with its extensive grounds, takes its interesting name from the fact that it is located on the spot which served as and was designated as Battery Terrill during the Civil War, when it functioned as one of the defense elevations protecting the National Capital. Guests were assembled in the lower garden in the natural amphitheater facing the terrace for the brief period of music and speechmaking. Dr. Lillian Gilbreth made a flying trip to Washington to confer with Mrs. Tompkins over the arrangements. Mrs. Roy Wright extended a word of greeting in behalf of the national organization. The two flying grandmothers, Mrs. H. Foster Bain and Mrs. Samuel Goldbear, who have been piloting their own planes on Hoover speechmaking tours throughout the country, flew to Washington for this event and gave three-minute speeches.

Mrs. Luther Reichelderfer, Mrs. Herbert Crosby and Mrs. John C. Gotwals, wives of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, assisted the wives of engineers from this vicinity and from more distant points in dispensing hospitality.

Refreshments were served from tables placed on the slopes in the grounds. Each table was presided over by a subhostess active in this elect-Hoover cause.

Mrs. Hoover will be the guest of honor at the tea to be given Tuesday from 4 until 6 o'clock by the League of Republican Women at the National Capital Republican Club.

The Minister of the Irish Free State and Mrs. Michael MacWhite were luncheon guests yesterday at the Mayflower of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. O'Connell, of Boston. Others present in the company were Attorney General Ernest Averill of Connecticut; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson, and the sons of the hosts, Mr. Lenahan O'Connell and Mr. Frederick P. O'Connell.

Mr. O'Connell is a former member of Congress from Massachusetts and Mrs. O'Connell is the daughter of former Representative Lenahan of Pennsylvania. Mr. O'Connell has just been chosen a member of the executive committee of the American Bar Association.

The Minister of Egypt, Sesostris Sidarouss Pasha, will go to Richmond this morning to be present at the unveiling of the newly erected World War Memorial. He will later be a guest at the luncheon to be given in the executive mansion by Gov. John Garland Pollard. The Minister will be accompanied by the Third Secretary of the Legation, Mr. Andre Cattaui, and the Attache, Mr. Hussein Chawky. They will return to Washington this evening.

Mrs. Thomas D. Thacher and Miss Mary Thacher have joined the Solicitor General at their home in Georgetown, after spending the summer months at Watch Hill, R. I. This will be Miss Thacher's first season in Washington since her father's appointment as Solicitor General of the United States.

Mme. Edouard de Streel was among those who arrived in New York yesterday on the Berengaria.

Mme. deStreel was before her marriage Miss Helena Lodge, daughter of Mrs. George Cabot Lodge, who went to New York to meet her daughter. They will come to Washington Monday. Mr. de Streel was attached to the Belgian Embassy at the time of his marriage to Miss Lodge several years ago, and is now attached to the foreign office in Brussels as secretary to the Queen of the Belgians.

Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, executive vice president of the National League of Women Voters, has left for New Haven, where today she will address the annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters.

Mr. and Mrs. William McNeir have as their guest for the week-end Mrs. George McNeir, of New York, who will leave the first of the week for Warrenton, Va.

Mr. Frank J. Hogan, president of the District Bar Association, entertained at a buffet supper and dance last evening at the Mayflower for the members of the American Bar Association. Among the distinguished guests who attended were Lord and Lady Reading, the president of the Bar Association of Canada, and Mrs. Newton W. Rowell, M. How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

VACCINATION AGAINST DIPHTHERIA.

IT seems probable that decrease in diphtheria will be the outstanding feature of the public health progress of this decade, just as similar declines in cholera, smallpox, malaria, consumption and typhoid fever have characterized public health achievements in other ten-year periods. Should the present rate of decline continue until 1939, diphtheria in the large cities will be almost unknown by the beginning of the next decade.

A good example of what is being done is supplied by New Haven. In 1921 there were 482 recorded cases of diphtheria, with 22 deaths among the population of that city. In 1923 the policy of vaccination of school children and children of less than school age, was begun. In 1927 there were but 52 cases of diphtheria and but 3 deaths from the disease in the city. In 1930 there were but 14 cases and 1 death. In 1931 there were 4 cases and no deaths. In the first seven months of 1932 there were 2 deaths, 1 of these being a school child. This is the first death of a school child from this disease in that city in four years.

Fifty thousand children have been vaccinated against diphtheria in this period of time in New Haven. This is one of the best showings that have even been made, but, unfortunately, there are some children who have not been reached for one reason or another.

This unfortunate boy, the first to die from diphtheria in four years, was offered vaccination, but the parents followed the advice of some opponents and refused the offer. Those who persuaded the parents to subject this child to unnecessary risks doubtless sympathize deeply with them, but this does not undo the harm done.

Those who are slow to be convinced will cite the well-known fact that diphtheria runs in cycles and that there are years in which experience teaches there should be but little of the disease, irrespective of what is done to control it. The answer to that is that this low rate has prevailed for ten years, and the trend is steadily downward. Nothing like that was ever known in the years before the use of diphtheria vaccination.

New Haven is a city with beyond 170,000 population and, in such a place there have always been many cases and at least a moderate number of deaths due to diphtheria each year. Furthermore the downward trend of the disease is plainest in those States and cities where most diphtheria vaccination is done. In places where not much of it is done, the disease is following about the same moderate downward trend with rhythmic ups and downs as have characterized it for the last quarter of a century.

DEPENDS ON MICROBE.

R. B. writes: What is an infection in the blood? Would it affect the nerves? If proper medical treatment is given would recovery be very slow?

REPLY.

The answer depends on what is the infecting microbe. If it is the spirillum of syphilis it might infect the nerves. Under proper treatment, given in the first stages, symptoms disappear promptly, but complete recovery is very slow. If the infection is with streptococci, malaria, or any one of many other microbes these answers would not apply.

REPLY.

Warts are important in the lives of kids and when one kid knows how to cure them he should tell others. Tom Sawyer told Huck Finn and all the other kids. I am sure your remedy is better than Tom's, though his also cured.

FOOTBALL STARS AND THE CAMPAIGN.

THE presidential campaign is getting louder and funnier. Moved by the appeal of Gene Tunney as a Democratic stump speaker, the Republicans have turned to football and enlisted Albie Booth and Red Cagle.

• • • •

This is the first time the G. O. P. has conceded that Messrs. Hurley and Mills were not everything to be desired as broken field runners.

Booth was a sensation on the gridiron. He used to flash out of the pack and be halfway to the goal line before the enemy knew where he was. But the Republican managers no sooner get the signals than they are thrown for a loss of five States.

• • • •

Albie and Cagle both conferred at the White House with President Hoover the other day. It is understood they both insisted he could never get anywhere with the old-fashioned plunging game and would have to do more passing and punting.

• • • •

The football celebrities expressed the opinion, too, that the G. O. P. needed a new coaching staff. The trouble with all the plays Herbert is using is that the runner is given practically no protection. The formations fool nobody. Unless Mr. Hoover plays better football the best he can hope for is to tie Bates or Chicago, Mr. Booth said. That would make him look as bad as Yale.

• • • •

Mr. Cagle expressed the view that the G. O. P. was falling on all plays to take out the secondary defense. All the boys who should do this work have been remaining back of the line patting one another on the back and saying that a touchdown was just around the corner.

• • • •

However, the football stars of yesterday will take the stump presently and the country can hardly wait for the pigskin spellbinders to open up thusly:

"Fellow Republicans and others in the audience who face a tough schedule this season:

"It is my proud privilege to stand here on this platform, in this great sovereign State, look into your smiling faces and call for three cheers for that peerless line smasher, that intrepid ball carrier, that great ground gainer, Herbert Hoover!

• • • •

"My countrymen, we are facing a crisis. The ball is on our own 15-yard line. We are in the shadow of our own goal posts. Mauled and bruised by the toughest of schedules, a schedule that called on us to meet those hardened opponents, Slump, Hysteria and Fear, on three successive Saturdays, we have little left except raw courage and the will to win.

• • • •

"We are in for a hard battle, but men of dear old Republicania, I call on you to fight, fight, FIGHT as you have never fought before. I ask you for sure tackling, quick execution of plays, good hard line smashing and a victory for your alma mater."

• • • •

MR. INSULL REFLECTS WITH MR. KEATS.

Much have I traveled in the realms of gold,
And many goodly states and kingdoms seen;
Round many Western islands have I been
Which bards in fealty to Apollo hold.
Oft of one wide expanse had I been told
That deep-browed Homer ruled as his demesne—
Yet just as I inhale its air serene
The wagon comes, and to the jug I'm roll'd!

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF October 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you are in the morning from 9:30 to 10:45, from 2 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 5:15 p. m.

If you are at war with yourself or others on this October 15, the stars are so fixed as to make for a resumption of peaceful conditions. Sit down quietly and iron out your own spiritual and mental difficulties and if you are having marital difficulties, or are embroiled in strained conditions at the office, this is the day to see these situations healed once and for all. A good day to pick up the threads of old friendships and an ideal day for parents to counsel their young.

Happiness seems to be assured you if October 15 is your birthday. This state of being will probably be a spiritual one rather than a material happiness, as your needs will tend to be such as can not be satisfied by the mere things that money can buy. You are a religious person and are continually seeking after the truth and underlying realities of your existence.

Among your many friends you will probably number many in high positions both in business and socially. Without any seeking on your part you will derive much good fortune from these associations in the way of favors and kindnesses. In your turn you will be able to offer them the advantages of your rare and discerning judgment, your sympathetic understanding and your usually cheerful and optimistic outlook on life.

You, as one one born on October 15, are more likely to be called a person of indecision, rather than one of action. This is due to the fact you are always seeking the finer points and qualities of any given thing or situation, and when two avenues of action are open to you, you are inclined to sit back and muse and meditate on the good points of both. You must learn to act more quickly, to deliberate less, to see the practical side of things as well as the artistic.

Without seeking riches, you will find yourself possessed of all the material comforts; you may in fact find yourself a wealthy individual. You will probably marry young, and your greatest happiness will come from your family.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

A TOP SCORE.

ONE of the charms of Duplicate play to many of its conscientious devotees is that a well-played hand gives to the player a rich competitive reward in that, most generally, it gives to him the Howell match point player's dream of perfection—"Top on the board."

In Rubber Bridge, on the contrary, if you make 2 overtricks, having contracted for four spades, for instance, you have gained less than 100 points. In this situation, the only manner in which you could have created a big swing in your favor would have been to overbid and contract for a Small Slam, which the cards held did not warrant.

In the Howell match point game, however, if you play a hand at a contract of three notrump, for instance, and due to very fine play make six, which is probably at least one more trick than any competitor will make, you will receive a greater reward for your fine play than if you had bid the Slam. In other words, this form of game does place a definite premium on the fine play of Dummy.

The hand below, from a recent New York Duplicate game, is a case in point:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ 10 7 ♡ A Q J 9 6 ◇ J 6 ♣ A 10 9 5
♠ K 9 3 5 ♡ 7 5 ◇ A Q 10 9 ♣ 4 3			♠ J 8 ♡ 10 4 3 2 ◇ 8 7 2 ♣ Q 6 3 2
	♠ A Q 6 4 2 ♡ K 8 ◇ K 5 ♣ K J 8 4

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
		1♡	Pass
1♠ (1)	Pass	2♡	Pass
3NT (2)	Pass	Pass (3)	Pass

1—The fit of the hand is not sufficient to justify a Forcing response. In any event, partner almost surely will again bid.
2—A very strong bid, which invites partner to bid further if he has any values not yet shown.
3—North does not hold any values not already disclosed by his Opening bid and Rebid.

On the play of this hand, West made his normal Opening of the diamond Ten. He was not aware of the very great strength that his opponents held and had hopes of beating the contract. South took the trick with the diamond Knave in Dummy and proceeded to run his hearts. A small club which was discarded on one of the hearts, plus the fact that he knew West would be long in diamonds, enabled him to locate the club Queen and he quite correctly finessed against East for it. He now had taken 10 tricks and in discarding on the good clubs West had finally discarded down to a point where he had to throw his diamond Queen. South now had an almost positive count on the hand and he knew that West held the Ace blank of diamonds and either two little spades or the King and a small one. He led his diamond King. West took the Ace and was forced to lead to Declarer's spade tenace. Of course, if West had discarded a small spade and kept the Ace and Queen of diamonds, Declarer would have had to guess whether West had blanked his King or whether he had kept a low singleton and then the proper play would have been to finesse East for it. At any rate, he read the situation correctly in this instance, and was rewarded by a tie for top score on the board, even though he had not contracted for the Slam which he had made.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

AS I said yesterday, the coiffure is certainly wearing crowning honors in the beauty parade. And for evening, the most fascinating, lavish, gay fashions are in evidence. This, combined with a simple, classic trend in gowns makes the picture very intriguing.

For General Formal Wear.

For general formal wear the little sculptured side curls and extra pieces remain the favorites.

For straight hair, one master artist has created a three-quarter wreath of flat, sculptured curls. A very modern version of the Roman or Indian braid, round the head.

For Special Functions.

For special functions such as the bal masque, transformations appear on more and more heads. Not since colonial days has Dame Fashion seen so many wigs at once. Grandmother's wig might be taken down from the attic and dusted, were it not for the fact that these transformations follow the very newest lines in coiffure.

The hair is being lacquered, too. And silver and bronze powder applied. Many beauty salons are offering a special treatment, which transforms hair to bronze or silver in powdery form and is simply brushed a few minutes. The metal comes in on very thoroughly with a small brush, somewhat smaller than a nail brush. And what a transformation! It is said to stay put, too, through an entire evening, and can be removed with an ordinary shampoo.

Blonde hair looks particularly fascinating when bronzed; and the very dark haired individual, with dark lashes and brows, usually looks stunning with the silver. This metallic effect promises to be particularly popular this season with the classic, metal-trimmed evening gowns. For a very special occasion it is well worth trying, particularly since it is not expensive, is harmless to hair or scalp, and so easily removed.

For Evening.

Whether one indulges in these extra gay fashions or not, every woman should have a more intriguing coiffure for evening wear. Sometimes the change in the part, a variation in the wave, the addition of a few curls or a jeweled clip adds just the bit of glamour that not only makes a woman look lovelier but feel that way, too.

Christian Science Churches

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all the Churches of Christ Scientist tomorrow. The golden text is from John x:30: "I and my Father are one." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to Heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." (John xvi:1, 4.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Text Book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done. Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.'" (Page 4.)

JURY ENDS SESSION IN PRINCE GEORGES

Judge Praises Brief Report and Short Term; Police Improvements Asked.

One of the shortest grand jury reports ever returned in Prince Georges County was made yesterday as the current jury finished one of the shortest sessions on record in the county. The report called for more accessible offices for the police force, a short-wave radio for police cars and roadside signs indicating the nearest police station.

"We have reports from a number of constables from whom we have secured little or no information," the report continued.

The jury declared that the police offices should be more accessible, even if it is necessary to house them in rented quarters, and advised that at least some of the county police cars should be equipped to receive police radio messages.

The jury in addition recommended that the jail be enlarged and that stop signs be placed at Chillum and Sargent roads, where a fatal accident has already occurred, and at Largo, where an accident recently happened at the intersection of Central avenue and the Marlboro road. The jurors reported that they had returned 61 cases out of 110 brought to their attention.

In receiving the report, Judge Joseph C. Mattingly said that the jury had accomplished more than the usual work in less than the usual amount of time. He added that, in view of the number of indictments, they must have weighed the evidence with considerable care, but that this dispatch had benefited the county.

Nicaraguan Storm Does Wide Damage

Many Cattle Drowned as Towns Are Flooded; Havoc in Mexico.

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Lashed by a tropical storm which caused heavy damage, Nicaragua surveyed its losses today as the sun broke through the clouds once more. Reports from many parts of the country said swollen rivers had flooded the towns, sweeping away the bridges and drowning many cattle. Communication lines were down in some sections and railroad traffic was interrupted at others.

Lake Managua has risen many feet, covering some of the makeshift shacks built at the edge of the capital after the earthquake of 1931 destroyed so many homes. Today's newspapers estimated that 2,000 persons had been left homeless again.

Mexico City, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The tail end of the hurricane which roared across the northern boundary of the Mexican isthmus of Tehuantepec appeared today to have spent its force on the lofty Sierra Madre peaks with no loss of life in Mexico, but with heavy property and crop damage.

Boy Gives Names In Triple Slaying

Was Struck Unconscious in Ax Attack Killing Three of Kin.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Billy Tressler, 9, regained consciousness today and from a hospital cot supplied police the names of two men who, he said, hit him. He is the lone survivor of a slayer's attack that killed three members of his family.

The boy was struck Tuesday night when his mother, Mrs. Nellie Tressler, 28; his grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Harden, 62, and his sister, Sadie, 11, were killed with an ax.

Police are holding Clyde Harden, 28, brother of Mrs. Tressler; Philip Renda, 50, her suitor, and George Lohr, 30, in connection with the crime.

As officers sat by his bedside, Billy opened his eyes today.

"Who hit you?" asked Chief of Police John C. Wall.

The boy furnished the names of the two men. He is unaware that his mother, grandmother and sister were killed.

A triple funeral was held for the two women and girl today.

Tariff Law Is Attacked At Democratic Rally

Wilbur C. Hall, members of the General Assembly of Virginia, speaking at the Democratic mass meeting in the Ballston Firemen's Hall last night under auspices of the Arlington County Democratic committee, declared that the Smoot-Hawley tariff law has been largely responsible for present conditions in the Nation.

Among other speakers were Mrs. Alma Partridge, Washington attorney; County Chairman W. L. Bragg and Robert N. Anderson, president of the Men's Democratic Club. Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers, president of the Arlington County Women's Democratic Club, presided and introduced the speakers.

4 Men Fined $50 Each In Maryland Still Raid

Four men, arrested as Prince Georges County Police raided an 800-gallon still near Nottingham, Md., were fined $50 each yesterday when convicted in Marlboro Police Court on charges of manufacture and possession of liquor. They are Floyd Reaves, Albie Harrison and Frank Tedder, of Nottingham, and Joseph A. Darnielle, of Capitol Heights. Each appealed the sentence.

Harvey Ferguson, of Meadows, was released on charges of sale, after he testified the money he received from the alleged buyer was given to him in payment of a debt. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff L. E. Dutrow on charges of selling a half gallon of whisky to Billie Thomas for $2.

G. O. P. in Arlington Addressed by Bentley

Addressing the mass meeting held last night under auspices of the Young Republicans of Arlington County in the Lyon Park community house, Robert E. Bentley, of Washington, declared that there has not yet been advanced by the Democratic party one constructive measure that will aid the present national situation.

Among other speakers were Miss Helen Cunningham, of Washington, and County Chairman L. C. MacPherson.

IN THE CINEMA HOUSES

EARLE

"BLONDE VENUS." Paramount picturization of a story by Jules Furthman and S. K. Lauren, starring Marlene Dietrich, with Herbert Marshall, Cary Grant, Dickie Moore, Rita La Roy, Robert Emmett O'Connor, Sidney Toler, Gene Raymond and Cecil Cunningham. Directed by Josef von Sternberg. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

A trite story, seriously overdirected by Josef von Sternberg, is here completely surmounted by the peculiar fascination of a unique screen personality.

Vaguely suggestive of those portions of the life of "Madam X" that were not written into the play, chopped into an almost staccato recital of events by Herr von Sternberg's passion for sudden flashbacks and cut-ins to mark the passing of time and the doing of deeds, and not a pretty story at best, "Blonde Venus," nevertheless, holds interest, compounds some degree of suspense and affords Marlene Dietrich one more opportunity to demonstrate how completely a skillful actress can encompass a character's maximum potentialities with a minimum of effort.

It is perhaps a greater tribute to Frau Dietrich's art of repression that, although she is the transgressor of the social code—in an admirable cause, to be sure—throughout the action of the sordid developments of the story hers still are the primary interest, the sympathy and the reluctant respect of the audience.

Married to a young American scientist, who happened upon her bathing, during a tramp through the Black Forest in Germany, Helen Faraday resumes her stage career to help her husband raise the necessary funds to restore abroad the health he has sacrificed to his experiments. During his absence, she pays the usual price for the affluence Nick Townsend is able to bestow upon her small son, Johnnie. Discovering through a premature return home the source of the money that has effected his cure, Ned Faraday banishes his wife from their home and threatens to obtain legal possession of their child. In an effort to evade this penalty for her indifference to convention, the mother flees with her son, pursuing a constantly descending course through the lowest dives of the southwest border country until, realizing the hopelessness of her physical, moral and spiritual degeneration, she surrenders the boy of her own volition—making a fine spectacle of the law as she does so.

Suicide seems to be the implication of her present plight, but instead we encounter her next the toast of Paris and the idol of the cabarets. Here finally happens along Townsend. Return to America. Visit to son. Old flame rekindled. Johnnie tucked in for the night. Dad and Mummy in each other's arms. Moonlight. Soft music.

During the cabaret scenes, Frau Dietrich enlivens the goings-on with several well-sung songs, entailing a succession of strikingly bizarre costumes. During much of the rest of the picture, she wears a weary mask of utter vacuity, only occasionally flashing into a fleeting burst of genuine feeling and histrionic brilliance. Yet the effect is of having been for an hour or so in the company of a fascinating and vibrant woman. No other actress, somehow, seems able to propel a vehicle so far with seemingly so little fuel.

Herbert Marshall, as the husband, contributes a fine bit of naturalistic acting, although the role makes him a great deal of the time not so much an injured husband as an unconscionable cad. Cary Grant, as Townsend, transmutes the qualities of the gentleman who should be the villain of the piece into traits that are not difficult to like. Of the other members of the cast only little Dickie Moore is important. He performs his usual accomplished stint of being unaffectedly and charmingly himself.

On the stage, those two incomparable exponents of youthful spontaneity, Hal Le Roy and Mitza Mayfair, reunited for the first time since the "Follies," prove again that they are far and away the greatest dancers of their years the theater can boast. Or any other years, for that matter. Their solo and duo numbers must be seen not only to be appreciated but to be believed at all. Next in audience favor is Nan Halperin, in her inimitable comedy sketches of "The Little Girl Who Forgot," "The New Cook" and "Scarlet Sister Sadie," real gems of characterization. Vic Oliver, assisted by Margot Crangle, in music and chatter, and Al Johnston and his "Dancing Xylophonists" complete the vaudeville bill.

The Universal News, with Graham McNamee, is the only screen auxiliary.

Need Increase Described By Leaders of Chest

Drastic increases in need confronting the citizens of Washington this winter and the steps that must be taken by the Community Chest to answer these calls for help were vividly outlined yesterday in talks by Newbold Noyes, Community Chest campaign chairman, and Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, at the final session of the Community Chest Speakers Institute at the Willard Hotel. The general subject discussed was "Outline of Plan for the 1933 Community Chest Campaign."

Mr. Noyes in his talk explained the new plan adopted for solicitation this year, whereby contributors will be asked to give so much a day for the welfare of the city, and stated that any increase in funds this year would have to come from the middle bracket of givers, those who ordinarily give from $25 to $100.

LOEW'S FOX

"MR. ROBINSON CRUSOE." United Artists picturization of a story by Elton Thomas, starring Douglas Fairbanks, assisted by Maria Alba, William Farnum, Earle Brown and South Sea Island natives. Directed by Eddie Sutherland. Reviewed Friday afternoon by Dorothea Lewis.

It's hard to tell which has the most fun—Doug Fairbanks, being Mr. Robinson Crusoe, or the audience.

This unique, almost storyless, one-man show is exhilarating, amusing and grand vicarious fulfillment of that eternal day-dream and desire of almost every normal mortal to get away to a desert island and start from scratch. Much easier, and safer, too, to let Doug, sr., do the work and adventuring.

Senior, indeed! Certainly this Crusoe person should be called young Doug from the moment he jumps overboard, lightly and spontaneously with such inimitable swaggering grace, from a yacht cruising the South Seas to win a wager by living the life of Riley on a desert island. With enthusiasm, he monologues his way (a dog, monkey, parrot, goat, and, eventually, a native girl for audience) through the single-handed construction of an island paradise complete with penthouse, golf course (nineteen holes) and radio, static and all.

Some of his creations equal those of Ed Wynn or Joe Cook; others are vastly practical and instructive; all are interesting. The entire picture is so simple yet cleverly and deftly contrived that it appears as consistently spontaneous as an extemporaneous speech, or a real adventure. That is its chief and potent charm.

In addition to Doug, those who should receive credit include Maria Alba, lovely and sympathetic, as Crusoe's Saturday; photographer Max Dupont, for very beautiful camera capturing of the gorgeous South Seas; Director Sutherland, and last but not least, two elegant beasts and a bird—a dog, a monkey and a parrot.

On the stage, the Duponts, with their new and amazing juggling feats, and Gracella and Theodore and supporting company in an artistically staged adagio dancing and singing number provide excellent entertainment. Of the Duponts' act, we liked best the tambourine trick and the juggled "meal." Gracella and Theodore's first number, the story of the Sleeping Princess, is particularly attractive.

The Trado Twins dance nicely enough, but can't seem to make up their minds to stick to it. They should.

And now we come to what Loew's Fox denominates its headline act. Ted Healy and his assembled stooges. We'd call it an act of effrontery to the patrons. Without being too critical, we found it as boring a performance as we have ever witnessed at this usually selective theater. However, tastes differ.

Phil Lampkin conducts the orchestra through a lilting and lovely arrangement of Victor Herbert melodies and a newsreel, comedy and sport subsidiary complete the bill.

Capital Man Held as Suspect.

Holland Peterson, 27, who said he was from Washington, was held on $1,500 bail, on charges of being a suspicious character and suspicion of larceny of an automobile in Philadelphia, Pa., yesterday, according to the Associated Press.

RIALTO

"THE KIDNAPING OF RUTH DRAKE." Universal picturization of a story by William Anthony McGuire, starring Lew Ayres, supported by Maureen O'Sullivan, Walter Catlett and Nance O'Neill. Directed by Tay Garnett. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

If you are looking for a newspaper story, replete with gangsters, bootleggers, kidnapings, and everything else modern, all blended into an engrossing whole, which races along at a breath-taking pace to a logical and convincing climax, then "The Kidnaping of Ruth Drake" (originally released as "O. K. America") is a picture that you can ill afford to miss.

It is really not a gangster picture, nor a journalist story, nor even one of kidnaping, yet at the same time it is all of these things. In short, the gangsters who kidnap Ruth Drake might have been any extra-legal band indulging in a nefarious practice of less heinous charter than kidnaping, and the solver of the problem might have been almost any one. These dramatic pegs, on which this tale of life in the year 1932 A. D. is hung, are those familiar to all, thus making the fiction all the more compelling.

Some previous pictures depicting columnists have delineated that character in colors too lurid for complete acceptance as an actual person. The Larry Wayne, Broadway "colyumist," of Lew Ayres is a real being, with a sense of propriety and decency, which not only makes him a welcome relief but greatly adds to the dramatic effect of his final supreme sacrifice, as well as to each event leading up to the release of Ruth Drake and the breaking up of gangster rule.

Mr. Ayres has, perhaps, done nothing quite up to this, his earlier roles not infrequently being belied by his youth. But here he is appreciably more "grown up" and added years sit well upon his shoulders.

No less commendable is the work of Maureen O'Sullivan, as Mr. Ayres' able and charming secretary. It does seem a shame, however, that her love for him was never consummated, but the courageous director followed the only logical course of his narrative.

Louis Calhern and our old friend of the National Theater Players, Edward Arnold, uphold the gangster angle of the film in an excellent manner, while Walter Catlett and Allan Dinehart run the New York Daily Blade. The titular character ought to be mentioned. She is Margaret Lindsay, entirely adequate in her small part, one whose intrinsic merit approaches zero. Her grief-stricken parents are well played by Wallis Clarke and Nance O'Neill.

To indicate in a small way the antecedents of this picture, it may be said that the essential details are suggestive of a well-known columnist, certain phases of the late abduction in New Jersey and the trial of former public enemy number one. While no direct comparisons are drawn, it takes no especial astuteness to recognize these sources of the narrative's dramatic high spots.

Heading the list of short subjects is a comedy with James Gleason, Anita Arvin and Bobby Hutchins, "Yoo Hoo," done on the bachelor-daddy motif. Other diverting subjects are "The Black Sheep," a Scrappy cartoon, and a release of the Universal News.

COLUMBIA

"RIDE HIM COWBOY." A Vitagraph picture featuring John Wayne, Ruth Hall and Henry B. Walthall with Otis Harlan, Harry Gribbon and Frank Hagney. Directed by Fred Allen. Reviewed Friday night by M. A. McKavitt.

The leading role of this Light Horse Opera, strange to say, is capably performed by that clever horse, "Duke"—a beautiful, white-coated fellow who is a much better actor than many of the swaggering gentlemen whom we have witnessed in other similar types of drama. This proud-stepping steed can be as gentle as a lamb and as malicious as Old Nick. In fact "Duke" is called "the Devil Horse." He will undoubtedly be handsomely received by Columbia audiences while "Ride Him Cowboy" is being shown. In fact this particular member of the equine species will probably be remembered long after the supporting cast has disappeared from the memory of men.

The plot of this Western story is like all the rest of them, but the director has produced a great deal more entertainment than is usually found in the barrage of "wide-open-space" movies recently displayed. The acting is certainly more credible. The female part is something more than decorative. John Wayne of the "Big Trail" dramatis personae hesitatingly speaks his lines. Perhaps it was the cowboy drawl. The "old timers"—Henry B. Walthall, Otis Harlan and Frank Hagney, showed more familiarity with the art. The comedy was a bit overdone but better than the general run of such gun-totin' cinema fare.

The rest of the program was uncommonly pleasing. A Hindoo religious festival will disclose some "mind over matter" feats achieved by "holy men" which you have often heard about but never seen.

"Merlins" was a very instructive nature study of a small species of hawk, trained and used as hunting falcons in days gone by. "Musical Cameos" was almost a complete music hall presentation. The snappy Charlot revue will in nowise prove detrimental to the vision. Paramount News completed the evening's pleasure.

Railroad Leaders Attack Problems

20 Per Cent Wage Reduction for Labor Is Reported Discussed.

Chicago, Oct. 18 (A.P.).—Financial problems of the Nation's railroads—wage reductions, credit and the potential competition of the new waterways—were attacked in a closed conference today of the advisory board of the Association of Railway Executives.

While spokesmen declined information about the secret meeting, it was said union labor delegates conferred with the group concerning the plan of the executives to seek a 20 per cent basic wage cut early next year.

The life of the Railroad Credit Corporation, which may end next March unless given an extension by the subscribing roads, was another topic. Action was expected soon if the credit plan were to be continued beyond March, and any recommendation by the executive committee today would be reported to the full association, convening at New York next month. The railway leaders were reported also to have planned railroad representation at the Senate hearings on the St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

Plant Disease Lectures Ready in Fairfax County

H. B. Derr, agricultural agent of Fairfax County, Va., is planning to hold a number of plant disease clinics throughout the county during the fall and winter months. The first of these meetings will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Farmers Club rooms in the old clerk's office building at Fairfax.

At these meetings the farmers are to bring in diseased specimens of seeds and plants from their farms and Derr will use them to illustrate his discussion on the treatment and prevention of the various diseases. It is reported that heavy losses occur in the county each year from planting diseased seeds without first giving them proper treatment.

Because of increased traffic on Fifteenth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and K street, the District Commissioner yesterday amended regulations to prohibit parking on the east side from 4 to 6 p. m.

Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer made the recommendation upon the basis of a study made by the traffic council.

New Delay Is Granted On Federal Seed Loans

Minneapolis, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—L. J. Paulson, Northwest Federal Seed Loan agency manager, today said an order from Washington had extended to 1933 seed loans made to farmers in 1930 and 1931. He said the loans, of which $4,000,000 were outstanding, were to have been met by returns from this year's crop.

Dry Agent Shot in Raid Dies.

Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Edward B. Vlasich, 26, Tacoma prohibition officer, died today from bullet wounds suffered September 29 when his companion, Ballard Turner, Seattle Federal officer, was shot to death during a liquor raid in the home of Jesse and Louis Cousins, near here. Officers said Vlasich declared the shooting was done by Jesse Cousins, who escaped. Louis Cousins is under arrest.

Final List of Questions In Robinson Crusoe Test

Everyone recalls with pleasure the thrills of childhood days when the classic "Robinson Crusoe" was first read. How engrossing were the adventures of that mariner on his deserted island in mid-ocean. His escapades with wild beasts, his struggles for sustenance, and his encounter with Friday, after having found his footprint on the sands, all of these and scores of other incidents made the book one of joy-bringing charm. How well do you remember those incidents?

Herewith is printed the third and final list of ten questions in the novel and interesting "How Well Do You Remember Robinson Crusoe" contest.

Twenty have been printed in The Post during the last two days. This list completes the 30 questions which should now be answered and mailed to the "Robinson Crusoe" editor of The Washington Post. The contest closes at noon Tuesday.

A cash prize of $10 will be given the person who answers correctly the largest number of the 30 questions. For each of the next 25 best lists of answers submitted, two tickets will be given to the picture "Mr. Robinson Crusoe," now being shown at Loew's Fox theatre, or to any future picture presented at that theatre.

1—Did you ever hear of any one in modern history whose adventures were at all similar to those of Crusoe?

2—In how many volumes if more than one, did DeFoe originally write his novel?

3—Can you think of any one in talking pictures who could more aptly present a modern Crusoe than Doug Fairbanks? If so, who?

4—The book mentions Crusoe telling time by the sun. Had not watches been invented when the character was conceived?

5—What was the approximate duration of Crusoe's island captivity?

7—Whence did Crusoe derive the name "Man Friday" for his stanch henchman?

8—For what other purposes than to obtain milk did Crusoe utilize his herd of wild goats?

9—Name several other animals in addition to his dog and the goats that were on Crusoe's isle.

10—What effect do you think DeFoe's novel has had upon the youth through the ages since its publication?

Auto Fugitive Drowned In Leap to Tidal Basin

BIG NEW YORK U. ELEVEN 3-1 CHOICE TO BEAT G. U.

Major Colleges Risk Claims to Titles in All Sections Today

50,000 to See Army Battle With Pitt

Michigan-Ohio State, Wisconsin - Purdue Clash in Midwest.

Tennessee - Alabama, Tulane - Vanderbilt in Dixie Spotlight.

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—College football, having completed most of its shadow-boxing and bag-punching, comes out into the open tomorrow for a series of brisk hand-to-hand fights along the major fronts.

The big-game season gathers headway simultaneous with a half-dozen shake-ups, actual and pending, in the coaching ranks. Seldom have football camps been so stirred as they have this week by the installation of a new regime at Kansas, followed by the news that Maj. Ralph Irvin Sasse, of Army, and Amos Alonzo Stagg, of Chicago, are directing their last big campaigns.

West Point thereby has an added incentive for the battle with Pittsburgh's powerful Panthers in the picturesque little stadium high above the Hudson. Army relies on a more experienced line and a carefully coached defense against the Reider-Heller passing combination to check the Panthers, who have galloped rough-shod over three straight opponents, and avenge a 26-0 setback administered to the soldiers at Pittsburgh last year. Pitt is a favorite but likely will find itself in many a tough spot.

Tests for Title Contenders.

The Army-Pitt contest and Pennsylvania-Dartmouth engagement, which should attract upward of 50,000 to Franklin Field, test the title claims of four of the East's major undefeated elevens. Harvard should have no trouble with Penn State and Colgate figures to outscore Lafayette. Gil Dobie meanwhile has recovered sufficiently to direct Cornell's first real test against the recuperating Princeton Tiger in what should be a closely fought affair.

Michigan and Ohio State share the Big Ten championship spotlight with Wisconsin-Purdue. All four are unbeaten so far. Ohio State, tied by Indiana, will turn Carl Cramer loose in the hope the Buckeye quarter back can duplicate his sensational romp through the Wolverines last year. Michigan's defeat would be an upset, however, on the basis of performances. Purdue may hold a slight edge over Wisconsin, but this game looks like a toss-up.

The "Big Four" in the Southern Conference race likewise come together, head-on, in a brace of games

C. U. Seeks to Halt Haswell, Chattanooga's Star, Today

A RECORD-BREAKING attendance for Brookland Stadium is expected at today's game between Catholic University and the University of Chattanooga, scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Champions of the Southern Intercollegiate A. A. and Dixie Conference, the Moccasins boast a powerful eleven, probably the most colorful entertained by the Cardinals in the past few years. "Scrappy" Moore is coach of the visiting aggregation.

Coach "Scrappy" Moore, of Chattanooga, seemed confident of the outcome last night at the Harrington Hotel, which is headquarters both for Chattanooga and the Catawba College Team, which meets George Washington U. tonight. The lobby of the hotel literally seethed with football talent.

Above all others, "Tubby" Haswell, triple threat of the Chattanooga backfield, will be a marked man at Brookland Bowl today. Haswell, one of the best backs in Southern football, was selected on many Dixie All-Star teams last year. Although weighing only 160 pounds, he is a powerful runner and the game may develop a battle of stars, with Tom Whelan in the same role for C. U.

Represented by the heaviest team in recent years, Catholic University looks forward to victory over the visitors. The locals will outweigh Chattanooga by several pounds. The presence of Pat Montague, spirited little 130-pounder in the Brooklanders' backfield, has increased the drive of the Catholic ball carriers. Montague is a clever field general and his strategy may be needed today.

Coach Dutch Bergmann reported the entire squad ready for duty

Western High 13-0 Victor In Series

Central Is Outplayed as 1931 Triumph Is Repeated.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

A GRIMLY determined Western eleven turned back the pages of history a twelvemonth as it fought its way, yard by yard, to a decisive 13-to-0 victory over Central's husky gridders in the opening game of the annual series for high school football supremacy yesterday at Wilson Stadium. It was by the same score that Western hoisted its banner above that of the Blue in their meeting last season.

Jimmy Corcoran, a tall, willowy half back with the surefootedness of a mountain goat, substituting for injured Jack Lynham at half back and playing his first game, was the hero of Western's triumph. But he had a fine supporting cast in Huck Hilleary, Turk Teehan and Reds Reynolds, backs, and Doo Buscher, tackle.

Central Outplayed By Wide Margin.

Western earned ten first downs to Central's two; it gained 175 yards in scrimmage to Central's 37, and had a wide edge in passing, where it completed three forwards for a gain of 26 yards, whereas Central completed only two of its nine aerials for 19 yards. Western's alert secondary defense intercepted three of these, the last, nabbed by Teehan, paving the way for its second touchdown. Gibbons, who alternated at center and in the back field for Central, outkicked Buck Hilleary, averaging 41 yards on his punts, to Hilleary's 36.

Western displayed a sustained offensive late in the first period and scored with the opening of the second quarter on an uninterrupted march of 80 yards. Corcoran bore the brunt of the running attack to bring the ball to Central's 30-yard line and then Hilleary tossed a pass to Teehan for a 26-yard gain. Central's line held for three downs, but on the final rush Teehan slanted off

2 Capital Women in Finals Of Mid-Atlantic Golf Play

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct 14.—The favorites clamped down tight on the "dark horse" in the semi-finals of the Women's Middle Atlantic golf championship today at the Rodgers Forge course and as a result it will be a Washington pair fighting it out for top honors tomorrow.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, Indian Spring Golf Club, former District of Columbia champion, defeated Mrs. Charles K. Osborne, Army and Navy Club, Washington, 2 up.

The other finalists, Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, defending title holder from the Columbia Country Club, eliminated the last Baltimorean, Mrs. Claude W. Wilhide, Baltimore Country Club, 5 and 4.

For nines holes the Haynes-Wilhide match was a real battle, and they rounded the turn all even. Mrs. Wilhide stepped into a 2 up lead on the opening pair of holes when her opponent floundered in sand traps. The third was halved. Mrs. Haynes took the next four to go two up. She negotiated some beautiful putts on the fifth and sixth, where she sank ten and fifteen footers, respectively. However, Mrs. Wilhide was the steadier at the eighth and ninth, and won both.

Starting back, Mrs. Wilhide drove into the trap at the tenth and thereafter never was able to keep out of trouble. Mrs. Haynes, on the other hand, was steady and won the next five holes in one over fours. The match ended at the fourteenth where the Washingtonian was on nicely with her third and then holed a twelve foot putt for a bridie four. They ployed out the eighteen holes, their cards being:

Mrs. Haynes—
Out.....6 6 4 6 3 4 5 5 6—45
Mrs. Wilhide—

Mrs. Wilhide—
In .....6 5 6 5 6 6 7 5 6—52—97

Mrs. Meckley had a 2-up advantage at the turn, winning the seventh and ninth holes after the lead had changed twice by 1-up margins. Mrs. Osborne became 3 down on the tenth, but she won the eleventh and the thirteenth with the twelfth halved to become only 1 down. Mrs. Meckley took the fourteenth, but drove in a ditch on the fifteenth and lost the hole. Mrs. Osborne added another with a birdie on the sixteenth, but lost the seventeenth when her approach was too strong. Mrs. Meckley clinched the battle with a par 4, after a sparkling iron shot on the eighteenth.

Tanguay and Hugret, Big Violet Backs, Feared by G. U.

Mills May Make Shift, Placing Kennedy in Back Field.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The weather is clear and the track is fast at the Yankee Stadium, where Georgetown University's band of ten-second ball carriers meet the unblushing Violets of New York University tomorrow afternoon before an expected throng of 25,000 fans.

It is the fifth meeting between the two unbeaten stalwarts of Eastern football, with each holding two scalps, but you can get 3-to-1 on New York U. here tonight, for word of Georgetown's somewhat weak line has seeped into Gotham, and the size and power of the Violets has long since been displayed.

Capt. Hudson Hopes To See Action.

Georgetown in a brief but brisk workout early today in Washington, just before leaving the Capital, was given the final lowdown on the methods and antics of virtually every N. Y. U. player, while Ray Hudson, the Hoya captain and irreplaceable end, limped and hobbled around the field on his bad leg, hoping that the warm sun and light exercise would take the kinks out of his member. He accompanied the team here and has persuaded Coach Tom Mills to use him during a part of the game.

Outlining chiefly the N. Y. U. method of throwing and receiving forward passes, Mills, early this afternoon in Washington, stressed methods of breaking up these lethal Violet thrusts. Reserve Georgetown players assumed the names of New York U.'s stellar players—Tanguay, McNamara, LeMark, Hugret and others. Particu-

We're all excited about this sale . . . and so is all Washington.

"My goodness" . . . as Ed Wynn would say. These are those glorious coats that used to be $100 and $125 last year.

Remember . . . WORUMBO is a fine name in any Worumbo quality, but it's the word "CHUKKA" that stamps the finer Worumbos . . . and think of getting a genuine Chukka Worumbo at $37.50.

The only thing that worries us is we won't have enough to go around—but we couldn't help that.

MR. KHAYYAM, 5 TO 1, DEFEATS 2-YEAR-OLDS AT DISTANCE

Colt Outruns Poppyman By Head

Hanford's Ride Factor in Victory; Keep Out Third.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS were asked to go a mile and 70 yards for the first time this year over a Maryland track and Mr. Khayyam, son of the famous Omar Khayyam, teamed with Buddy Hanford to take The Manor, Laurel's feature yesterday. Second honors went to Poppyman, the property of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, with third money clinched by William Ziegler's Keep Out.

The public had a hard time making a favorite but the Audley Farm entry of Royal Blunder and Bright Shadow finally got the call and finished out of the money. There was a tip for every horse in the race, floating through the paddock. Of course the right one was on Mr. Khayyam. However, he figured to be right in the fight and the rousing ride of Hanford made him a cinch—after the race, of course.

Some 8,000 were drawn to the track to witness close finishes under a bright autumn sun.

Poppyman broke on top of the field with Mr. Khayyam on his heels and the rest had a battle around the clubhouse turn and several suffered from interference.

The leading pair had Jungle King to run with as the field went up the backstretch but he folded at the far turn and Poppyman and Mr. Khayyam went on with their battle. Poppyman had a length advantage coming into the stretch with Keep Out moving up fast. But Hanford got to work on his mount and pounded him along to take the decision by a head. Mr. Khayyam paid an $11.30 mutuel.

Two Tricks did everything at the barrier but knock a fence down, but when the real running began the juvenile had other ideas. In fact Mack Garner brought him galloping up the stretch to defeat a field of maiden 2-year-old fillies. Beaten a head was Fluffy Lee, a field representative. The show went to Bravissima. It was batttle from the start between the top pair with Fluffy Lee holding the edge for three furlongs.

Huffy, an 8-year-old jumping son of Jim Gaffney, which always has loved the Laurel steeplechase course, defeated a field of thirteen in the second race. Beaten between the last jump and the finish was Lord Johnson, the favorite, was third. Shylock and Lord Johnson did the principal early running with Huffy and Luckite far back in the field. Shylock gave up the ghost on the last turn, but Lord Johnson stuck to his guns as Huffy and Luckite moved up. It was not until the last jump that Huffy caught the leader to draw away on the flat. Three falls and a lost rider occurred back in the field. The casualties were Egad, Light Plume, Royal Doulton, and Miss Henrietta.

Three jockeys were injured. Paul Yingling and S. Austin, are in the South Baltimore General Hospital with concussion of the brain. They were brought to the hospital unconscious. Eddie Ball, also thrown, was treated at the track.

DEAR AL: LAUREL RACE TRACK.

Two $5,000 added stakes are on the program here today. Chief interest is centered in the Laurel, a mile test for all ages. Equipoise, carries top weight of 126 pounds in a field of thirteen, and will attempt to pass Blue Larkspur on the record money-winning list. The C. V. Whitney star has $264,710 to his credit to Blue Larkspur's $272,070. The Maryland Futurity is the other stake and has drawn a field of eight with the Labrot entry, of Rush Hour and Damascene, the likely choice.

My selections were prominent all the way yesterday, although only two (Huffy and Avalon) were winners. BILL.

FIRST RACE—POMPOSITY has been to the races once, and after that educational may be ready to step away with everything. This one made a nice move the last time, but Bobby Jones let up when beaten. TRACE CALL has been close in good fields. VON SION is a magnificent-looking youngster and may improve off that last race.

SECOND RACE—I'm putting FLYING MAX on top. This one has a way of coming back. TOTEM is the one to beat and the logical favorite. MEETING PLACE may be third.

THIRD RACE—HYGRO, 130 pounds and all, gets my call here. This 3-year-old is in splendid shape and may handle the impost as handily this time as the last. PILATE and CANRON are expected to do the most pressing.

FOURTH RACE—The Labrot entry of RUSH HOUR and DAMASCENE seems to have the edge. Both have demonstrated their speed. CANTORIA comes to this after fast works. ACAUTAW for the show.

FIFTH RACE—FLAGSTONE to win the big race. This fellow is in rare form. Has worked sensationally and comes up to this mile test off a brilliant sprint behind Hygro. Picks up some weight, but I believe he can handle it. EQUIPOISE and GALLANT SIR ran first and second in the Havre de Grace Handicap and should take care of the place and show.

SIXTH RACE—NIGHT PATROL has exhibited his class both here and at the Graw. Needs only to run his race to take these. RACCOON can give the top one a battle. JOLLY PILOT for the rest.

SEVENTH RACE—KNEEHIGH and FLAMING MAMIE have beaten each other. I'm taking the first-named this time. TINITA for the show end.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TWO TRICKS, $7.10, $5.10, $4.20; FLUPPY LEE (field), $9.80, $6.70; BRAVISSIMA, $4.40.

TWO TRICKS, fractious and placed on the outside at the start, was hurried into the thick of contention, shook off FLUPPY LEE when straightened into the home stretch, but weakened fast and just lasted long enough. FLUPPY LEE, hard hustled to gain early command, saved ground and came again when placed to punishment. BRAVISSIMA went forwardly placed, but could not threaten in the first two. MISS ALDEN finished with good speed when securing clear racing room in the final three furlongs.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. Steeplechase. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 2:22. Off at 2:22½. Winner, Mrs. G. J. Atwell, Jr.'s ch. g. (6), by Jim Gaffney—Thundercloud. Trained by H. Kennath. Value to winner, $1,050; second, $300; third, $150. Time, 3:50 2-5 (14 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HUFFY, $10.20, $6.20, $3.90; LORD JOHNSON (entry), $8.00, $5.10; LUCKITE, $3.20.

HUFFY, kept in early contention and fencing in his best fashion, challenged stoutly after the first mile and one-half and, in a game finish, took command at the last fence to outstay LORD JOHNSON. Latter, a strong factor, raced SHYLOCK into submission to take command at the eleventh fence, but could not withstand the winner. LUCKITE saved much ground from the start, made a strong bid in the final half mile, but was not good enough. BANDIT, tired at the mile and one-half, was stopped after reaching the back stretch for the second turn of the field. SPECKLED BEAUTY II had no mishaps. RUBIONY refused at the twelfth and LIGHT PLUME lost rider at the same obstacle. ROYAL DOULTON and MISS HENRIETTA fell at the tenth and EGAD fell at the eighth jump.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:35. Off at 2:37. Winner, H. Bruce's ch. c. *Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AVALON, $5.50, $3.40, $2.70; SANS COIN, $6.90, $4.80; HYMAN, $3.90.

AVALON luckily secured racing room next the inner rail after breaking slowly, was hard ridden and outstayed SANS COIN when the latter bore out all during the stretch run. SANS COIN, stoutly handled and showing good speed, resisted keen contention early and would likely have been right there at straight course. HYMAN reached contention after the initial furlong, but was held safe thereafter. BLIMP was on the outside the start. He showed a good test.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Westminster. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:27. Off at 3:28. Winner, Brookmeade Stable's b. c. (3), by Dunlin—Elastique II. Trained by R. A. Smith. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48, 1:13 2-5, 1:39 2-5, 1:46 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SNAPBACK, $6.60, $4.10, $3.00; LATE DATE, $6.10, $4.30; OLD MASTER, $5.50.

SNAPBACK, rushed hard to take command going to the first turn, was taken in hand when settled on the back stretch, saved ground and came away willingly when urged during the closing furlong. LATE DATE, forced to race on the outside from the start, responded to punishment, but was unable to menace the winner. OLD MASTER, slower than usual in the early stages, worked his way into contention between his field and just lasted to outstay MARMION. Latter, strongly ridden, raced in spots. CAMP PRINCE was used up forcing the early pace and tired.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Manor. For 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:02. Off at 4:07. Winner, Catawba Stable's b. c. (2), by Omar Khayyam, Trained by M. Brady. Value to winner, $840; second, $240; third, $120. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:39 2-5, 1:44 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MR. KHAYYAM, $11.30, $5.70, $5.20; POPPYMAN, $6.50, $4.70; KEEP OUT, $8.70.

MR. KHAYYAM, prominent and under stiff urging to hold a forward position, came determinedly when approaching the home stretch, wore POPPYMAN down and was under severe pressure at the end. POPPYMAN, hard hustled to assume command, was headed in front while saving ground and held on gamely when put to punishment. KEEP OUT, badly pinched off at the first turn, recovered gamely. He reached the leaders with good speed, but weakened from his early efforts. STEP SISTER was never a serious factor. SWINHAVEN, found to be tailing after the first, closed with a belated rush. ROYAL BLUNDER was outrun. NORTHGALIS had no excuses.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:37. Off at 4:39. Winner, Brandywine Stable's br. c. (3), by Chilhowee—Nyrasa. Trained by P. M. Burch. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:47.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PENCADER, $8.50, $4.20, $2.70; VILLAGE VAMP, $6.60, $3.60; UNENCUMBERED, $3.30.

PENCADER, kept within striking distance after dropping back, responded readily when placed to punishment, swung to the outside and, closing strong, was up in the final stride. VILLAGE VAMP reared into the air when the start gave and, after trailing her field, was steered extremely wide to enter contention with a rush, gained a slight lead when straightened into the home stretch, but was weakly ridden thereafter. UNENCUMBERED, rated in front, shook off LADINO and continued gamely. PLAYFOLE made up ground slowly at the end. LADINO tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:08. Off at 5:10. Winner, A. Gaignard's br. m. (5), by Black Toney—Doreid. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:53 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BIDE A WEE, $10.00, $4.20, $3.80; NEGOPOLI, $3.60, $3.20; WARD IN CHANCERY, $7.80.

BIDE A WEE, rated close to the early leader, was placed to punishment when entering the home stretch and took command in the final sixteenth mile. NEGOPOLI, slow as usual in the early stages, circled his field and was wearing the winner down steadily. WARD IN CHANCERY, a strong factor throughout, came through a narrow passage during the stretch run and was racing stoutly.

Wake Forest Ties N. Carolina State

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 14 (U.P.).—North Carolina State and Wake Forest College elevens were undefeated and uncored upon before their annual State fair week game this afternoon. They were still undefeated and their goal lines still uncrossed when the game was over. The contest, played before 12,000 people, ended in a scoreless tie.

tackle for the touchdown. Reynolds place-kicked the extra point.

A Central pass that came to grief in the arms of Teehan early in the fourth period paved the way to Western's second touchdown. Teehan snared the pass on Central's 35-yard line and was pulled down only four yards from the goal. Corcoran made the distance through tackle on the first play. Reynolds missed the kick for point.

Central was unable to penetrate the militant Western line and mixed an air attack with its running game. The Blue and White threatened only once. A long pass from Gibbons to Dunlap put the ball on Western's 17-yard line in the third period and Kocsis made another first down, but Central incurred a penalty for offside play and the threat evaporated.

Stocks Soar 2 to 8 Points Under Covering of Shorts

U. S. Steel Closes 4 Higher; Trading Volume Totals 2,036,710 Shares.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—An outburst of covering enabled the stock market to retrieve its losses of the past week today.

Reasons for the short retreat were not readily discernible, since current news developments contained nothing of a surprising or startling nature. Apparently recent followers of the short side had become a bit too overconfident and had misjudged the technical position. When they began to buy soon after the firm opening, offerings proved scarce and net gains of 2 to 8 points quickly piled up. The score or so of issues that had recently been weakest showed to best advantage. Extreme gains were partially reduced, although the closing tone was generally strong.

As usually happens when stocks undergo a sudden change of heart, other markets rallied. Most of the activity in shares was confined to the morning hours, afternoon dealings being very placid. The turnover was 2,036,710 shares.

American Telephone stepped just as fast on the rally as it had slumped on the decline earlier this week. The stock sold as much as 8¾ points above the previous close, later reducing this gain by 2 points. U. S. Steel, up 5 at the top, closed 4 higher; the preferred also recovered sharply. Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Case, American Tobacco "B," American Can, New York Central, National Biscuit, Southern Pacific, United Aircraft and Dupont were other rapid movers, although many others either did as well or were not far behind.

Forecasts of tomorrow's car loadings statement placed the favorable gain at 12,000 or 13,000 cars, but it was recalled that a week ago the same prophets had been badly fooled. An advance of those proportions in the week ended October 8 would be regarded as distinctly favorable, for the downward seasonal movement sometimes gets under way about that time.

Railroad earnings for last month will make their appearance next week. Since freight movement in September was very substantially above August, the carriers' financial statements, it is confidently expected, will make much better reading, although many roads will have to show unusually large increases in earnings before fixed charges can again be covered.

Money markets were stagnant. Call funds were offered unofficially at ¾ of 1 per cent and some time funds were available at the same rate.

Trade reviews continued their cheerful reports. Bradstreet's said its correspondents in 55 leading cities had submitted preponderantly constructive comment. Dun's appeared pleased, by evidence of "a healthy restraint on undue optimism, and the continuance of recovery was "clearly outlined."

Stocks.

An outburst of covering advanced stocks 2 to 8 points, enabling the market to recover losses of last week. Reasons for shorts' panic were not clear. Sales totaled 2,036,710 shares.

Bonds.

One of the best rallies in weeks sent bonds higher. Gains up to 3 points contributed to an average of four-tenths. The day's turnover was $9,079,000. Rails led the recovery.

Curb.

A retreat of bears gave the curb courage to soar 2 to 10 points. Utilities provided the largest part of the turnover, amounting to 230,000 shares. Oils lagged.

Wheat.

Prices advanced with the buoyant securities markets. Offerings were scarce, and the rise was supported by large purchases. Other grains were up. December wheat sold at 49⅛ to 49¼ cents.

Cotton.

Early advances were trimmed by reactions, leaving the net rise of the market 8 to 10 points up. Buying and covering aided the recovery. December sold at 6.47. Liverpool was lower.

BONDS JOIN ADVANCE UNDER RAILS' LEAD

Issues Swell Average Gains With 1 to 3 Points Rise; Sales, $9,079,000.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The bond market experienced a change of heart today as speculative leaders joined in one of the best rallies of the past several weeks.

Rails led the upturn with gains of 1 to 3 or more points and a number of low-priced utilities and industrials recovered some of their recent losses. Most of the best grade industrial issues, however, were somewhat dull and unenthusiastic, holding their price changes to a rather narrow range. Sales totaled only $9,079,000, par value.

Carrier liens that recorded the best recoveries included some of Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, Chicago & Northwestern, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Canadian Pacific, Erie, Burlington, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake Corporation, Southern, Illinois Central, Boston & Maine and Central Pacific.

The principal utility gainers included loans of American & Foreign Power, International Telephone, Utilities Power & Light and Postal Telegraph. American Telephones were also firm with the debenture 5s gaining 7¼ points.

United States Rubber 5s advanced 2 points and some of the oils improved. Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. issues closed. International Match 5s were the heaviest traded of the domestic list, gaining ⅛ of a point.

The foreign section was irregular. There was a large turnover in German 5½s and 7s, both advancing from ⅛ to 1⅜ points. The bonds of Australia were in supply at losses of a point or more. The Argentines also sagged.

U. S. Treasury Receipts.
(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for October 12 were $3,870,556.98; expenditures, $10,800,465.12; balance $780,046,987.62. Customs duties for twelve days of October were $9,812,124.04.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—The keen demand for gold shares and the active investment buying of gilt-edged securities were features on the stock exchange. Transatlantic issues recovered in the afternoon but other issues were irregular. The closing was steady.

Paris—The slump in yesterday affected prices bourse. International issues were well sustained while rentes declined somewhat. The market closed irregular.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse fluctuated a good deal but the tendency remained good, although the closing was fractionally lower.

Wall street yesterday slightly on the international issues.

Brazil Remits $1,079,305 To United States on Debts

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Banco Brasil remitted £317,422 (about $1,079,305) today to London and New York, under a foreign debt refunding plan, and £135,636 (about $461,332) to Rothschild's, London, for liquidation of credit granted the former Washington Luis government, overthrown in 1930.

A total of £3,436,797 (about $11,651,000) of Brazilian foreign debt has been amortitised thus far this year.

It was announced today that rebel currency issued during the civil war in Sao Paulo, would be redeemed with Sao Paulo 30-year treasury bonds at 7 per cent, with the Banco Brasil aiding in the rediscounting.

Minister of Finance Oswaldo Aranha said that a 2 per cent gold import tax to be imposed at Santos, the reopened port of Sao Paulo, would not imply punishment of the rebel government.

"We will simply apply to Santos the same tax that other ports pay, hence abolishing an exception instead of creating one," he said.

Authorities here were informed that six Sao Paulo military leaders, including Col. Euclydes Figueiredo, were captured today at Florianopolis when the sailboat in which they were fleeing from Sao Paulo foundered.

Money Is Seeking Chance to Work

Rates Cut to Minimum in Efforts for Keeping Capital Engaged.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Money is literally begging for a chance to work and will do so cheaply if given complete assurance of safety.

Interest rates are now at or near their record low levels for many years. The call money rate, which serves as an index for the general money market, was reduced this week to 1 per cent—a quotation at which it has been renewed on the New York Stock Exchange on only rare occasions. Twice last year the rate was posted at that level, but with those two exceptions it had not been posted at so low a figure since 1908.

The call loan rate is set by the committee on money rates of the stock exchange. This committee meets every trading day but Saturday and decides what is a fair charge to ask for funds furnished to brokers as loans against stocks and bonds as security. Such loans are subject to a call for payment at any time, whenever the lender wants his money back. As a result, it represents one of the favored types of loans by banks. On July 7 last the stock exchange committee reduced its then prevailing rate of 2½ per cent to 2 per cent, and this was cut to 1 per cent Thursday.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

London, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes in pounds: Total reserve increased 1,102,000; circulation decreased 1,107,000; bullion decreased 5,000; other securities increased 208,000; public deposits increased 2,343,000; other deposits decreased 1,852,000; notes reserve increased 1,107,000; government securities increased 400,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 46.34 per cent, compared with 40.05 last week.

Rate of discount, 2 per cent.

Freight Loadings Irregular in Week

New York Central Lines Gain on Cars From Connections.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Car loadings reports made public today for the week ended October 8 showed a mixture of gains and losses from the previous week.

New York Central's freight loadings on its own lines totaled 41,166 cars compared with 42,312 a week ago, but the number of cars received from connections increased and total loadings for the system were 95,561 cars against 94,036 in the week ended October 1 and 111,945 in the same week of 1931.

Interchanges for 28 connecting lines at St. Louis terminal totaled 31,877 cars against 29,829. Frisco's loadings were larger by 148 cars while Missouri Pacific's rose to 24,104 from 23,766. Moderate decreases were reported for Missouri-Kansas, Texas, International Great Northern, and Gulf Coast Lines.

Indiana Standard Oil Out of Crude Price Rise

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana issued a statement today announcing the company can not advance its posted prices for crude oil "despite the recent action of certain other companies."

"Conditions do not warrant even the present prices, and will not give necessary support to an increase," the statement said.

CURB PRICES MOUNT AS BEARS RETREAT

Rises of 2 to 10 Points Add Cheer to Market; Sales, 230,000 Shares.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Shorts gave the curb market a considerable boost today, as a covering movement swept over this market, in sympathy with the bear retreat on the big board. There was some recession from the day's best levels in the afternoon trading, however.

Aluminum Co., in which the market is rather thin, shot up 10½ points, but then fell back to close at 54, up 5¾, net. Deere was helped by a firmer wheat market and finished at 10⅞, up 1⅜, which was a point under the day's peak level. Newmont Mining gained 1½, and St. Regis Paper was fairly active, up ¾, net.

Utilities continued to provide the largest part of the turnover, particularly Electric Bond and Share, which touched 27, and closed at 25½, up 3¼. American Gas & Electric gained a point, and American Superpower nearly as much. In lighter trading, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore gained about 2, and Duke Power, 3 points.

Oils lagged somewhat. Refusal of Standard of Indiana to follow recent price advances for crude in the mid-continent probably confused the market somewhat. That issue was up ½ point at one time, but closed up only ⅛, and other petroleum issues moved narrowly.

The day's total turnover in this market of 230,000 shares exceeded yesterday's by about 50,000.

U. S. Urged to Buy Farm Board Cotton for Poor

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 14 (A.P.). A proposal that the Government buy 2,000,000 additional bales of cotton from the Federal Farm Board and the cooperative associations and deliver it to the Red Cross to make garments for the poor is advanced by W. H. Houston, Tunica, Miss., one of the biggest planters in the Mississippi Delta.

He said he believed such an act "should have an extremely healthy effect on the cotton market and the condition of the Southern farmer."

WHEAT VALUES RISE IN BUOYANT TRADING

More Than 1 Cent Added to Thursday's Finish; Other Grains Advance.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Catching buoyancy from the action of the New York Stock Market, wheat jumped about 2 cents a bushel today.

Wheat offerings were scarce on the way up, and much talk was heard that the price was very low, and that a natural recovery from recent protracted declines appeared overdue. Buying of wheat was largely credited to Eastern and foreign account, with some notice taken of drought complaints from western Kansas and the Pacific Northwest.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅞ to 1⅜ above yesterday's finish; corn, unchanged to ⅜ higher; oats, ⅛ to ⅜ up, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to an equal advance.

Purchasing Is Feature.

An outstanding development in the wheat pit was evidence of large-sized purchasing here against simultaneous equal selling at Winnipeg. Indications of powerful support given the Winnipeg market was emphasized by Chicago wheat bulls, who had reports indicating a considerable falling off in the first-hand deliveries of Canadian wheat, and suggesting that the peak of the Canadian crop movement had been passed. There were also advices that French farmers had ceased pressing wheat for immediate sale, and that there was now some inquiry in France for wheat from other countries.

Late profit-taking on the part of early buyers caused wheat to react somewhat from the day's top prices. A reason specified was that Southern Hemisphere crop news appeared more favorable, with rains in north Argentina and an estimate that Australia's out-turn would be 10,000,000 bushels larger than last year. Some selling from the Northwest was also conspicuous toward the last.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat. A moderate amount of corn was taken by exporters here and at St. Louis.

Provisions ruled irregular, with lard demand good, but meats trade slack.

COTTON PRICES GAIN DESPITE REACTIONS

General Market Is Advanced 6 to 10 Points; December Closes at 6.47.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—An early advance in cotton on trade buying and covering was followed by partial reactions today under southern selling and realizing.

December contracts after selling up to 6.63 on the forenoon advance closed at 6.47 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 6 to 10 points.

The opening was 2 to 8 points higher on the relatively steady cables and a sharp falling off in Southern hedging following yesterday's selling. Favorable domestic consumption figures combined with strength in the grain and stock markets stimulated buying and March sold up to 6.79, with the more active months showing net gains of about 20 to 25 points.

Closing quotations were 14 to 17 points below best on December and later deliveries.

Liverpool was lower but did not fully meet the local decline of Thursday. Private cables reported hedging and liquidation in that market on the better weather. Houses with continental connections were among the early buyers here. Exports today, 21,960, making 1,547,987 so far this season. Port receipts, 134,597. United States port stocks, 3,862,318.

BUSINESS PERSISTS IN STEADY UPTURNS

55 Leading Cities Report Improvement in Wholesale and Retail Trade.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Business and trade in wholesale and retail markets continue to record gains, the weekly mercantile reviews said today.

Bradstreet's said its reports from 55 leading cities are preponderantly on the plus side, and that while most of the gains are seasonal in nature, a number of cities report the volume of retail sales up to or better than a year ago.

"Business," this agency commented, "seems to have more than an even chance of passing through this ordeal without material damage. The slow, steady betterment shown in the trade reports for the past few weeks, coming on top of and justifying the mid-summer optimism, has laid a firm foundation for resistance. Some small betterment in orders seems to be reaching the lighter industries in certain sections."

Dun's reported that gratifying stability continues to be furnished by commodity prices; that the latest gains in railroad carloadings, electric power output and steel production and textile and shoe activity have measured up to or exceeded the anticipated seasonal proportions. Provided consistent weakness does not supplant the firmer tone of the past two months, the danger of another sharp setback in general business is not probable, this agency asserted.

"While the enthusiasm of a month ago," it declared, "has subsided to some extent, contentment over the termination of fears of disaster and the continuance of a fair seasonal recovery of trade stand clearly outlined in the cold light of any appraisal of the current situation."

Santos Again Ships Coffee.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Word was received here today that the first shipment of coffee from Santos, Brazil, since the beginning of the Sao Paulo revolution early in July had left that port for the United States aboard the steamer Western World. The cargo amounts to 50,000 bags.

UNITED CORPORATION PROFITS $3,407,787

Phone Income in 9 Months Nets $110,541,623; Dividend Is Less.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—United Corporation, the big public utility holdings company sponsored by J. P. Morgan & Co. and Bonbright & Co., today reported for the quarter ended September 30 net income of $3,407,787, equivalent to $1.37 a share on the outstanding $3 preferred stock. After preferred dividends for the period there was a balance equal to 10 cents a share for the common stock.

In the quarter ended June 30, 1932, the company had net income of $3,402,047, equal to $1.36 a share on the preferred, and leaving a balance equal to 11 cents a share on the common.

The company received dividends and interest in cash during the quarter of $3,636,756, compared with $3,648,175 in the preceding quarter. A reduction in current expense largely offset a reduction in income growing out of the recent cut in the dividend rate of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, of which United Corporation is a substantial holder.

Dun's reported that gratifying stability continues to be furnished by commodity prices; that the latest gains in railroad carloadings, electric power output and steel production and textile and shoe activity have measured up to or exceeded the anticipated seasonal proportions. Provided consistent weakness does not supplant the firmer tone of the past two months, the danger of another sharp setback in general business is not probable, this agency asserted.

"While the enthusiasm of a month ago," it declared, "has subsided to some extent, contentment over the termination of fears of disaster and the continuance of a fair seasonal recovery of trade stand clearly outlined in the cold light of any appraisal of the current situation."

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported today for the nine months ended September 30 net income of $110,541,623, equivalent to $5.92 a share of the outstanding capital stock. This compares with $128,529,560 in the corresponding period of 1931, which was equal to $7.01 a share.

After payment of dividends for the period the company had a deficit of $15,422,862, compared with a balance of $6,882,671 after dividends in the 1931 period. On the basis of the net income reported for the nine months, the company earned $1.90 a share on the outstanding stock for the quarter ended September 30, compared with $1.95 a share in the June quarter and $2.07 a share in the March quarter.

which should go far toward settling the title prospects. Rarely do such scoring powerhouses as Tulane and Vanderbilt, Tennessee and Alabama have so early an opportunity to open the climax valves. Tulane and Tennessee won by decisive scores last year, but it would not be altogether startling if the tables were turned in each case.

Drastic measures have been applied to revive Kansas and Missouri, in the big six conference, but they do not seem sufficiently strong to stop Iowa State and Kansas State, respectively. Meanwhile Nebraska, the conference champion, steps outside to tackle Minnesota.

Scoreless so far this season, Southern Methodist, 1931 championship team in the Southwest, has gone a long way off in search of a comeback against Syracuse University. While the Mustangs are making this sortie, without much prospect of success, Baylor plays Arkansas, Texas Christian takes on Texas A. & M., and the powerful Texas University team entertains Oklahoma.

The four-year reign of the University of Utah's Indians in the Rocky Mountain conference, scouts report, may be abruptly ended unless they show a reversal of early season form against Brigham Young University tomorrow.

On the Pacific Coast, Stanford and Southern California, each priming for the big battle at Palo Alto next week, take on nonconference opponents, West Coast Army and Loyola (Los Angeles). The conference schedule features Washington State, at California, and U. Cl. A.-Oregon, at Portland.

Capt. Lewis Annexes Army-Navy Net Title

Capt. J. W. Lewis, veteran United States Navy tennis player, yesterday won the singles championship of the Army and Navy Country Club, defeating Commander Wilkinson, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2, after springing the big surprise of the tournament by beating Maj. J. A. Dorst in the semifinals, 6—1, 6—3.

Dorst, a heavy favorite to win the tournament, fell a victim to the great steadiness of the Navy player, as did Wilkinson in the finals.

Mrs. Cobbe won the woman's singles, defeating Mrs. Furber in the finals, 7—5, 2—6, 6—4, after putting out Mrs. Staton in the semifinals, 6—0, 6—0.

Today the women's team of the club will meet a women's team from Fort Monmouth, N. J., in four singles and three doubles.

BURKE WILL LEARN CHARGES HE FACES AT HEARING TUESDAY

Is Invited to Appear Before Commissioners to Hear Chief's Complaints.

Chief of Detectives Frank S. W. Burke has been invited to appear before the District Commissioners at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday to hear the complaints of noncooperation and "temperamental incompatibility" upon which Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford bases his request for the demotion of the detective chief.

The decision to invite Inspector Burke to meet with the Commissioners was reached after a prolonged conference at the District Building, in which Corporation Counsel William W. Bride and the Commissioners participated.

Opportunity to Answer.

Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby, who is in charge of the Police Department, said no copy of the allegations will be furnished to Inspector Burke before the hearing. If Inspector Burke desires, he will be given an opportunity to answer the charges in writing following the hearing.

Inasmuch as Gen. Glassford required more than a day to prepare the charges and since Inspector Burke has no idea of their nature it is likely that he will ask to make a written reply to the allegations.

Settlement Plans In Doubt.

Commissioner Crosby had no comment to make on the recommendation of Gen. Glassford for the demotion of Inspector O. T. Davis to the rank of captain.

Whatever plan the Commissioners may have with regard to an amicable solution of the Burke-Glassford controversy has not yet been communicated to either of the participants. Gen. Glassford is unaware of any plans for a friendly settlement, as is Inspector Burke.

Gen. Glassford expects to confer today with Commissioner Crosby at the District Building, but it is not expected that the personnel changes will be discussed.

TWO FATHERS SEIZE CHILDREN AND FLEE AFTER HOME ROWS

Mother of Lightly Dressed Baby Fears That It Will Suffer From Cold.

Fearing her thinly clad baby would suffer from exposure, Mrs. Ethel Richards, 1625 Sixteenth street northwest, frantically requested police last night to search for her husband, Louis B. Richards, who, she said, grabbed up their 23-month-old infant, Eva, and left home in an automobile late yesterday. The wife stated that her husband had been drinking.

Police said that Richards and his wife were in an altercation when he suddenly snatched the baby and left. The baby was clad only in a thin dress, underclothing, shoes and stockings.

Richards was described as being 26 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighing 136 pounds.

Considerable excitement was caused in the downtown district yesterday afternoon, when Jimmie Freeman, a heating engineer, living in Second street southeast, seized his 6-year-old son at E and Eighth streets, jumped into a taxicab and escaped.

Freeman had been separated from his wife about a week. When his wife left the boy on the sidewalk while she went into a store, he took the child and fled. He was stopped by police, but when the boy begged to go with his father, the pair was allowed to depart before the wife realized where her son had gone.

Thousands at Ball Game See Janitor Trapped on High Sill

WILFORD HOLMAN,

a colored window washer, was trapped on a fifth-story window sill at the Marne Apartments yesterday when a French window latched behind him.

Youth, Removing Awning, Caught Outside Fifth-Story Window.

The plight of Wilford Holman, 30, colored assistant janitor at the Marne Apartments, yesterday afternoon furnished the Fire Department with a rescue opportunity and supplied divertissement to the thousands who were watching the Central-Western football game at the Central Stadium.

A little trick of a French window trapped the youth on a fifth-story window sill of the apartment house. He had climbed out to take down an awning and closed the window behind himself. After loosening the awning he discovered that the window could not be opened while he was on the sill.

Nearly an hour elapsed before he attracted the attention of persons in the apartment, who summoned No. 3 Rescue Squad. A quick survey of the situation by the firemen led to the conclusion that a ladder was needed. A pane was broken in the window so Holman would have a good hand hold while awaiting the ladder. Soon the aerial ladder of No. 6 Engine Company was raised to the sill and firemen escorted Holman down from his high and chilly perch. The apartment is occupied by A. A. Catterall, of the Department of Justice.

BURROUGHS CITIZENS RAP 'PREJUDGMENT' IN CUPOLA DISPUTE

Reported Position of District Officials on Taft School Plan Stirs Wrath.

The Burroughs Citizens Association last night bitterly assailed a report that "officials at the District Building" had indicated that "Northeast Washington residents are doomed to failure in their fight for replacement of the cupola in plans for the Taft Junior High School."

"The procedure of these officials, whoever they may be, is rather amazing in view of the facts," Raymond R. Gilbert, chairman of the special cupola committee of the association, declared. "If these officials have been correctly interpreted then the case of the association has already been rendered judgment before the hearing."

"Will Not Be Intimidated."

"The Burroughs Association is not going to be intimidated by any such crude tactics as have been advanced in this case by those in the District Building; and we are of the very definite impression that such strategy does not carry the approval of the Commissioners," he stated further.

It was learned yesterday that officials of the Fine Arts Commission are backing the association's demand for the cupola and will attend the hearing granted the protesting citizens next Tuesday afternoon.

Federal Officials to Appear.

Chairman Charles Moore, of the Fine Arts Commission, and H. P. Caemmerer, executive officer, have indicated that they will appear at the hearing.

Engineer Commissioner John C. Gotwals has insisted that the cupola be omitted for reasons of economy. The citizens claim the savings would be small, weighed against the harm they assert will be done the building's appearance.

REHABILITATION UNIT CHOOSES POPE HEAD

Bureau's Work for Released Prisoners Described by Chest Officials.

Allen Pope was elected president of the Bureau of Rehabilitation at the annual meeting of that organization at the Burlington Hotel yesterday. Wallace Hatch was named first vice president; Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle, second vice president; Dr. D. W. Willard, third vice president; R. L. McKeever, treasurer, and Dwight N. Burnham, secretary. Willard C. Smith, former president of the Council of Social Agencies; Lieut. Rhoda Milliken, of the Woman's Bureau of the Police Department, and Col. Joe R. Moore, superintendent of probation for the United States prisons, were added to the board of directors.

Joseph E. Dayton, executive director of this Community Chest organization, in his report, outlined the purposes of the bureau.

On September 30, 1931, he said, there were under supervision on parole, 31 persons. Sixty-six were received on parole to October 1. A total of 97 persons were supervised during the year. Of these 30 were discharged from parole and nine violated their paroles. There were 58 persons under supervision on parole on Otcober 1.

The bureau distributed material relief to the extent of 3,360 meal tickets, 462 lodgings, cash aid to 526 persons and clothing to 1,376 during the year.

Man Shoots Himself For New Experience

Grafton D. Duvall, 55, was in a serious condition at Casualty Hospital yesterday because he satisfied what he termed "curiosity." According to police who found him sitting in the office of a lumber yard where he is employed at 1300 First street southeast with two bullet wounds in his chest, he told them that he shot himself just to see what it felt like.

Police said that the man had apparently been drinking and was despondent because he had learned that he was about to lose his job. His wife, Mrs. Mary Duvall, was located at their home at 3014 Denton place northwest, and informed of his condition.

Windsor Hotel Sold At Trustee Auction

Harry C. Weston Purchaser of G Street Building for $70,500.

The Windsor Hotel, 2125 G street northwest, was sold at public auction yesterday to Harry C. Weston, tax counsellor, with offices in the Woodward Building, for $70,500. Mr. Weston's was the only offer and includes a $70,000 prior deed of trust. The sale was advertised by Christopher H. Pope and Thomas C. Willis, trustees. Adam A. Weschler was the auctioneer.

The building, a four-story brick and concrete structure, was erected in 1926, by H. L. Schuh, original owner, Bahen & Wright being the builders and E. St. Cyr Barrington, the architect. Its original estimated cost was $70,000 and its current assessed valuation is $63,697, of which $55,000 is for building and $8,697 for land. The structure has a width of 38½ feet and a depth of 135.

Subsequent owners have been Joseph B. Bahen and J. Holt Wright, trading copartners under the firm name of Bahen & Wright; Imogene Cunningham, Joseph B. Bahen and J. Holt Wright, Brooke V. Be and M. Emma Carr.

LOWER RENTS SEEN IN INTEREST SLASH

Construction Leaders Hold Meeting Here; Slums Problems Studied.

Low interest rates on building loans will be reflected in large rent savings, Arthur C. Holden, of New York, told construction leaders attending a national conference at the Commerce Department yesterday.

A reduction of 1 per cent in the interest rate, he said, has been found to equal a reduction of 10 per cent in construction costs.

He issued a warning that rental obligations were in danger because of reduced incomes. Vacancies have also increased alarmingly, he said.

The conference is attended by 90 leaders in the construction industry. Slum improvement is one of the major points of discussion.

Mr. Holden stated, that in aiding slum improvement, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation should use discretion in seeing that rents on projects are in reasonable relation to rents in the district where they are located.

Burglars Find Hidden Cash in Grocery Store

Efforts to prevent loss of his money in case burglars should gain entrance to his store at night, proved unavailing, Lycurgus Griffith, 5435 Connecticut avenue northwest, reported to police yesterday.

Griffith, who is manager of the Atlantic & Pacific store at 1737 G street northwest, said that burglars gained entrance to his store by breaking the glass in a rear door Thursday night stole a total of $207.47 which he had secreted in various places throughout the store.

Wedell Planning Try at Air Record

Finishes Preparations Here for Canada-Mexico Flight.

James R. Wedell, noted airplane designer whose three planes finished first, second and third in the recent Bendix Trophy race between Los Angeles and Cleveland, flew into Washington yesterday morning to complete arrangements for a daylight flight next Tuesday from Ottawa, Canada, to Mexico City by way of Washington.

Wedell will attempt to better the mark set last year over the same route by Maj. James A. Doolittle. He came here to confer with State Department officials regarding the speedy clearance of his ship as it passes over the international borders.

Although the ships which bear his name are recognized as the fastest in the country, Wedell hopes to build a faster one next year for competition in the rich Bendix transcontinental race.

Army Officer Hurt In Beggar's Attack

Victim of Assault Unable to Appear in Court Against Prisoner.

Maj. Ralph Duffy, of the Army Medical Corps, was unable to appear in Police Court yesterday to press charges of assault and soliciting alms against Richard Jackson, colored, who is charged with having set upon the Army officer when he refused to give him money.

The story told police is that the man accosted Maj. Duffy on New Hampshire avenue and asked for money. When his request was denied, he apparently started on his way only to return and attack Maj. Duffy. In the scuffle the man was beaten off and his arrest came about shortly afterward when police, summoned by the officer, apprehended Jackson.

Maj. Duffy suffered severe head and face injuries and was kicked in the stomach. As soon as he is able to appear in court the charges will be presented against Jackson.

B. E. F. Flagpole Must Get Congress Sanction

Authority to erect the 135-foot flagpole of Oregon fir now en route to Washington as a gift to the city from the Bonus Expeditionary Forces will have to await congressional action, it was learned yesterday from Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, when he was informed of the gift from W. H. Richardson, B. E. F. leader.

The timber, which weighs 7,157 pounds, and is 18 inches square at the base, will be stored here until Congress convenes, Col. Grant said. Richardson emphasized the fact that the pole is not designed as a B. E. F. memorial, but is intended only as a gift.

10 G. U. Rooters Lectured in Court

White House Pep Marchers Freed After Warning by Judge.

Their collegiate enthusiasm considerably dimmed, ten Georgetown University students yesterday faced Judge Ralph Given, in Police Court, following an attempted "pep" march on the White House Thursday night.

The students had attended a rally on the university campus in connection with the New York University-Georgetown game today, and when the orators had done their stuff, the students began an impromptu march on the White House. They were halted short of their goal and the parade was broken up when ten were arrested.

Those taken into custody were Frank B. York, jr., and Louis Lilla, charged with parading without a permit; Raymond A. Coleman, who permitted passengers to ride on the running board of his car, and John Shields, Francis A. Scalessa, Henry Powers, John T. McGuire, Robert F. Shelare, John P. Lynch and George A. Perletz, who were the passengers on the running board. The personal bonds of all were taken after Judge Given had lectured the youths for having too much pep.

Teachers Lacking At Home for Girls

Education Board Unable to Furnish Instructors for Night Classes.

Because of increased enrollment and insufficient funds the Board of Education will be unable to furnish teachers for the night school classes for the girls of the Florence Crittendon Home this year, it was announced yesterday at a meeting of the board of managers of the home.

However, the matter of asking the various "circles" of Washington to help in furnishing teachers was discussed. Formerly the District Board of Education furnished instructors to the home for the night classes.

Mrs. Thomas E. Robertson presided at the meeting yesterday. The house committee reported completion of the installation of new kitchen equipment and Miss Jean S. Cole, superintendent, reported that 58 girls and 50 infants were cared for during September. The home has installed its own dental office, it was announced.

Authorities Ready To Handle Parades

Traffic on Line of March Monday and Halloween to Be Suspended.

The next two Bicentennial parades, the fraternal day parade on Monday, and the Hallow'en parade on October 31, were discussed yesterday at a meeting of police and public utility officials in the office of Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice president of the District Bicentennial Commission.

It was decided that Pennsylvania avenue traffic be suspended during the period of both processions. The Public Utilities Commission was requested to issue the necessary orders.

Among those present at the meeting were Inspectors L. I. H. Edwards, and E. W. Brown, of the Police Department; Capt. D. O. Hickey, of the park police; James L. Martin, of the Public Utilities Commission, and representatives of the Capital Traction Co.

High Bidder Awarded Contract for Uniforms

The District Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to furnish uniforms for all members of the Police and Fire departments to the Sigmund Eisner Co., despite the fact that its bid of $57,293.74 was higher than five other bids submitted. The high bidder was selected upon the recommendation of H. P. Clemmer, engineer of materials, who declared that the other bids did not meet specifications.

Similarly, contracts were awarded to S. Livingston & Son for caps on a bid of $2,552.93 and to Louis Critz for leggings on a bid of $3 a pair despite lower bids. Other clothing contracts went in regular order to the lowest bidders.

Lindbergh Case Figure's Bond Set

Man Held Here as Fugitive From Pennsylvania Must Post $29,500.

Bonds totaling $29,500 will have to be posted by Arthur L. Hitner before he will be allowed liberty pending the airing of charges that are booked against him, Judge John P. McMahon decided in Police Court yesterday when Hitner was given a preliminary hearing on accusations of false pretenses and being a fugitive from Pennsylvania.

Hitner, alleged by police at one time to have been in contact with Norfolk men who were trying to regain the Lindbergh baby, passed three bad checks here, one of them for $65, it was charged. He was arrested in Virginia for local police. In that State he is under bond on a charge of being a fugitive from Buffalo, N. Y., where he is faced with a charge of violation of the national banking laws.

The Pennsylvania charge against him is that of fraudulent conversion and false pretenses.

Brightwood Group Seeks Bank Light

Committee Will Question Federal Official About His Supervision.

A committee of five members was appointed by the Brightwood Citizens Association last night to call upon the Comptroller of Currency to ascertain what supervision was exercised by the Treasury Department over the Brightwood Savings Bank, closed several months ago.

On a motion by William McK. Clayton, the association voted to join the Federation of Citizen Associations in its plan to secure conference rooms in which all citizen association members can confer. The motion contained a provision for the Brightwood association to contribute $100 toward the fund for that purpose.

All officers were reelected except the corresponding secretary, David S. Davison being elected to that position. Officers reelected were, Charles W. Ray, president; Col. John Claggett Proctor, first vice president; L. J. Randall, second vice president; C. J. Campbell, third vice president; A. W. Foster, fourth vice president; C. E. Bogardis, recording secretary, and William McK. Clayton, and John A. Saul, delegates to the federation.

Road Walker Dies When Hit by Truck

Identity of Victim Sought Through Clothes Labels; Driver Arrested.

Maker's labels found in the clothes of an unidentified man killed yesterday on the Baltimore boulevard near Beltsville will be sent to the manufacturer in an attempt to learn where the clothing was sold, County Policeman Claude Reese said last night.

The man, apparently a hitch-hiker, was killed when struck by a truck. Henry Holton, of Swedesboro, N. J., driver of a produce truck, was arrested and held in bond of $500 for an inquest which will be held tonight before Magistrate George S. Phillips. The driver said the man stepped in front of his vehicle.

The dead man was about 35 years old, well-dressed and carried a suitcase which was devoid of any marks of identification. He is about 5 feet 8½ inches tall, clean shaven, with a dark complexion and appeared to be a foreigner.

Meter Cabs Must Post Signs Identifying Them

An order requiring all meter taxicab drivers to post signs in their windows "at least 2 inches high" advertising the fact was issued yesterday jointly by the Public Utilities Commission and the District Commissioners.

A number of complaints have been made to District officials by patrons who entered cabs in the belief that they were operating with zone fares only to discover at the end of the ride that the vehicle was equipped with a meter.

Inquest Slated Today In Fatal Auto Accident

A coroner's jury today will investigate the death of Henry C. Littlefield, 49, chief of the educational division of the Bureau of Research, United States Shipping Board, who was fatally injured when an automobile operated by Capt. Clarence C. Calhoun collided with his vehicle at Tenth and Pennsylvania avenue northwest Thursday.

Capt. Calhoun, a prominent attorney of Chevy Chase, Md., who was released to appear at the inquest, was driving about 100 feet ahead of the White House car bearing President Hoover to the corner stone laying at the United States Supreme Court Building, when the accident occurred, according to witnesses.

A contract for the erection of the Keene School on the south side of Concord avenue, between Blair road and First street northeast, was awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners to the Henry W. Cord Co., Inc., of Washington, on its low bid of $84,995.

The school is of the 8-room extensible type and is scheduled to be completed by July 20, 1933. The building is to be located next to the present Keene School, formerly known as the Woodburn School.

$10,000 Accident Damages Asked.

Belcher, 313 Tennessee avenue northeast, yesterday filed suit against Talford Kiser, of Remington, Va., for $10,000 damages because of an automobile accident at Thirtieth and K streets northwest, last August. The suit, filed by Attorney John W. Fihelly, asserted that Mr. Belcher suffered serious injuries when he was struck by an automobile of the defendent. The papers were filed in District Supreme Court.

Iron Worker, Long Idle, Hurt in Fall on New Job

His first day's work yesterday after a long period of unemployment resulted in possible serious injuries to Robert Harrison, 38-year-old ironworker, who fell about 15 feet from a first-floor beam at the new Department of Justice construction project, Tenth street and Constitution avenue northwest.

Harrison's fall was the fourth accident this week on the Government building activities in the Mall. The other three mishaps occurred Tuesday at the new Postoffice Building and are under investigation by the office of the Architect of the Treasury.

Harrison was in undetermined condition last night at Emergency Hospital. He was thrown to the ground when a cable snapped. He suffered possible internal injuries, possibly fractured ribs and severe bruises and lacerations.

Yesterday's accident occurred just a few minutes before the 4 o'clock whistle signaling the close of the day's work for Harrison. He lives at 107 Second street northwest.
